FARES MAY SOAR AS AIRLINES SEEK REMOVAL OF PRICE CAP

Citing the steep increase in aviation turbine fuel, private carriers have asked the government to do away with the cap on airfares

IT'S THE ONLY WAY TO BECOME VIABLE: CARRIERS

Since the beginning of January, the cost of aviation turbine fuel (ATF) has risen by ₹38,902 per kilo litre to ₹1,12,924. Rising ATF prices, coupled with the pandemic-induced distress, have deeply impacted the profits of airlines, say industry sources. In such a scenario, only removing the cap on passenger fares can make carriers viable, say airline executives

VISTARA, INDIGO PUSH FOR CHANGE

- According to industry sources, Vistara and IndiGo are pushing for the removal of the airfare cap. The airlines' executives are planning to meet government officials to take this further
- Airlines say the government's price regulation is preventing them from recovering losses incurred over the past two years

India on the side of peace in Ukraine

Nation strongly against conflict, no solution possible by shedding blood, Jaishankar tells the LS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

INDIA is strongly against the Russia-Ukraine conflict as no solution can be arrived at by shedding blood, External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar told the Lok Sabha on Wednesday. He was replying to a debate on the situation in Ukraine.

"If New Delhi has chosen a side, it is the side of peace and for an immediate end to violence. All members would agree that India's approach should be guided by its national beliefs and values, national interest and by its national strategy," he said.

"In this day and age, dialogue and diplomacy are the right answer to any disputes," he added.

Referring to the evacuation of students in Ukraine, he said it was the most challenging mission carried out by India yet. "Had the four Union ministers not gone to countries neighbouring Ukraine, India would not have got the same level of cooperation," he said.

As for the question of continuing education of the evacuated students, he said talks are on with countries like Hungary, Romania, Kazakhstan and Poland. Also, Ukraine has decided there would be a relaxation for students on promotion from the third to the fourth year course.

"As for the students in the sixth year, the degrees would be accorded without taking the mandatory CROC-2 examination. The criterion would solely be academic performance," Jaishankar told the House. He informed that Hungary had offered to allow students evacuated from Ukraine to complete their medical courses at its universities.

Talking about the civilian killings in the Ukrainian city of Bucha, Jaishankar said India is deeply disturbed by the reports. "We strongly condemn the killings that have taken place there. This is an extremely serious matter and we support the call for an independent investigation."

He said attributing political colour to India's actions vis-a-vis the Ukraine situation was unfortunate. His pushback came on a day when the White House reiterated the US view that it is not in India's interest to accelerate or increase imports of Russian energy and other commodities.

Regarding importing Russian crude, he said that India is buying less than 1% of its requirement from Moscow, whereas many countries have imported 20 times more than India.

Jaishankar also highlighted that India was supporting the world amid the conflict by providing fuel and food to economically battered Sri Lanka.

As for the hike in fuel prices, he said it was an outcome of the Ukraine conflict, added it needs to be ensured that the common man isn't burdened.

Aakar stopped from leaving country at KIA

BALA CHAUHAN @ Bengaluru

AAKAR PATEL, chair, Amnesty International India (AII), was on Wednesday morning stopped at the Kempegowda International Airport (KIA), Bengaluru from leaving the country after he was informed that he was on the Exit Control List (ECL) by the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) in a case of alleged Foreign Contribution Regulation Act (FCRA) violation by AII in 2019. Patel was named in the FIR and was summoned. He had joined the investigation in December, 2020.

On Wednesday, Patel was on his way to Boston by a 6.50 am flight by the British Airways to deliver a series of lectures at the University of California (UC), Berkeley, New York University and University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, when he was stopped at the KIA. "I was going to deliver a lecture on attack on social media at the UC, Berkely; speak about my latest book -- 'Price of the Modi Years' – in NYU and participate in an interaction on social media, in Michigan University. I had got my passport, which was impounded in 2020 in Tweets case, released from the Gujarat court for the visit. I was shocked when the immigration officials at KIA told me that I cannot leave the country because of a travel ban. I showed them the court order and my passport, but they told me that the CBI had issued a Look out Circular (LoC) against me," Patel told TNIE.

He added that he called the CBI officer, who was investigating the case against AII. P5

Netas react strongly, Muskaan's father rejects al-Qaeda's praise for daughter

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

LEADER of the terror outfit al-Qaeda, Ayman al-Zawahiri, praising the second-year BCom student Muskaan Khan for chanting 'Allah-hu-Akbar' in reply to saffron-clad male students chanting 'Jai Sri Ram' at her college in Mandya as she entered wearing a hijab in February, has evoked strong reactions from political sections, including Karnataka Home Minister Araga Jnanendra saying it is a vindication of their suspicions of an "unseen hand" behind the "conspiracy" of blowing the hjijab row out of proportion.

But the standout reaction came from Muskaan's father Mohammed Hussain, who, without mincing words, distanced his daughter, himself and his family from the al-Qaeda leader singing praises of Muskaan.

He said, "I was not aware of this (al-Zawahiri's video), nor have I ever seen al-Zawahiri before. I only got to know when media houses came to me showing the video. He has said something in Arabic. People say whatever they want, which is unnecessarily causing trouble. Such incidents are disturbing peace. We don't want him to talk about us, as he is not at all related to us. It is wrong and is an attempt to divide us... We are all (across religious lines) living here with love and trust."

He said that he showed the video to his daughter and told her it was wrong and reminded her that she was still a student. "She wants to study," he added. In the video, al-Zawahiri says Muskaan's defiance of saffron-clad men had emboldened the spirit of jihad and awakened the Muslim community. P4

MUSKAAN KHAN TO SHIFT COLLEGE?

After the hijab row, Muskaan Khan has not attended classes and did not even face the exams. While her father confirmed that his daughter had not attended the exams, sources in the college said that she has sought a no-objection certificate and transfer certificate to shift to another college.

"On what basis was action taken against Sanjay Raut? What was the provocation? Just because he has made some statements and criticisms does not mean action should be taken against him. This is injustice," Pawar told reporters here. He said that it was his duty to bring to the Prime Minister's notice the injustice being done to a senior parliamentarian.

Hungry kya? Food delivery apps crash

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

SERVICES of food delivery majors, Swiggy and Zomato, were affected for over two hours across the country as their servers crashed during peak lunch hours on Wednesday.

Netizens took to social media to express their frustration and anger. Sources told The New Indian Express that the issue could be a technical glitch at the company that handles tech infrastructure for the two firms, along with many other companies.

Apps and websites of both Swiggy and Zomato were not functional for over two hours and the apps crashed continuously. In addition, those who had already ordered food from the apps were unable to check order status and get refunds.

The issue seemed to have been rectified by around 4.30 on Wednesday evening. But users continued to face issues with orders taking longer than an hour to get delivered.

COMMUTE MADE EASY

Now, use digital passes to travel on BMTC buses

Transport entity launches app in collaboration with a startup

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

The project was launched at the BMTC office in Shanthinagar on Wednesday

IN a big relief to passengers who otherwise had to stand in long queues in front of ticket counters to buy passes, the Bangalore Metropolitan Transport Corporation (BMTC) on Wednesday, introduced a mobile-based digital pass system in collaboration with Tummoc, a startup.

With this, commuters can purchase passes online through an app. The project has been introduced on a pilot basis. The project was launched at the BMTC central office in Shanthinagar on Wednesday. Conductors will be provided with QR code readable Electronic Ticketing Machines (ETMs) to validate the passes.

Commuters can purchase passes online through a mobile app and make the payment online using UPI or other online payment options. To use the feature, a commuter has to download the app 'Tummoc' from the Google Play Store and create a profile by providing minimum KYC. BMTC's daily, weekly and monthly passes can be purchased through the app. The passes will be generated along with a unique identity and dynamic QR code. The passenger has to show the digital pass on his mobile phone which will be validated by the conductor using the ETM. In case the conductor does not have the QR code readable ETM, the passenger shall validate the pass by reading the QR code carried by the conductor. While validating, the travel data is captured for reconciliation and analysis. The digital pass system has been developed using the latest security features.

"This is a pilot project. Everything depends on the response we get from commuters. BMTC will try its best to implement it. At least by January 2023, we wish to go for conductor-less or driver-only buses... this app will be very instrumental towards us achieving it," V Anbu Kumar, Managing Director, BMTC, said. On whether the new system will result in conductors losing their jobs, the MD said that the aim of the corporation is to make buses conductors-less. "This does not mean that the conductors will lose their jobs. Conductors can be outside the bus at bus stations to check the digital passes," he said.

Hop on to #500-CH from Sarjapur to Tin Factory

BMTC has introduced a new bus route from Sarjapur to Tin Factory, part of Bengaluru's IT corridor. Citing the need to cater to techies and others, BMTC has introduced this service (bus # 500-CH), which will travel between Sarjapur and Tin Factory via Dommasandra, Kodathi, Kaikondrahalli, Bellandur, Marathahalli Bridge and Outer Ring Road.

Hijab row didn't hit SSLC exam turnout: Nagesh

SHILPA P @ Bengaluru

In all, 98.8 per cent girls and 98.2 per cent boys attended the SSLC exams

BC Nagesh, Primary and Secondary Education Minister

MINISTER for Primary and Secondary Education B C Nagesh on Wednesday claimed that the hijab issue did not impact attendance of girls from the minority community writing the SSLC exams. Absenteeism of girls from the community was just 1.8 per cent, while it was 2.2 per cent among girls from other communities, a survey conducted by the education department in 14 districts for a day during the recent SSLC exams, he said.

Nagesh to the media in Bengaluru, "In all, 98.8 per cent girls and 98.2 per cent boys attended the SSLC exams. Due to the pandemic situation, since students who had scored low were also promoted to the next class last year, enrolment by private candidates (not regular students who come to schools) this year was high as they expected it this year too. So a majority of absentees were private candidates. This minor variation in attendance of SSLC exams is not new, and has been there in previous years too. In fact, attendance was high this year, compared to earlier years," Nagesh defended.

Nagesh said at least 25 to 33 per cent of in-service teachers will be promoted without exams. A decision in this regard will be taken this week, he said. He was speaking at the state-level workshop on 'Kalika Chetharike' for representatives of teachers' associations from across the state, hosted by the Department of State Educational Research and Training, in Bengaluru on Wednesday.

Nagesh said a survey by the education department and Central government indicates that the quality of learning among schoolchildren had dropped during the Covid pandemic. In order to improve the quality of learning among children, the state has taken up the flagship programme 'Kalika Chetharike', he said.

Representatives from over 140 teachers' associations from across the state participated in the workshop.

BU convocation deferred, to be held by April-end

ENS @ Bengaluru

WITH Prof KR Venugopal back as the vice-chancellor of Bangalore University (BU) after the Supreme Court stayed the order passed by a division bench of the High Court to quash his appointment, the VC has deferred the convocation to the end of April. It was initially planned to be held on April 8.

Previously, Prof Venugopal, who had been removed as the VC, had written to the Governor's office appealing for the postponement of the convocation, amidst several petitions submitted to the Supreme Court regarding his appointment.

Prof Venugopal's appointment had come into question previously, after which the Karnataka HC had upheld an order quashing his appointment. The order came after a petitioner questioned the VC's appointment, as the Governor had not obtained the consent of the State Government in his appointment. Following the March 16 order that quashed the VC's appointment, four petitions were filed by the State Government, the Governor, BU administration registrar and Prof Venugopal at the Supreme Court. As of April 4, the SC stayed the order and the professor has returned to his post as the VC.

Arkavathy allottees decry poor amenities, protest outside BDA office

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

PEEVED over the Bangalore Development Authority's quick initiatives in connection with the upcoming Sir M Visvesvaraiah Layout while the Arkavathy Layout formed in 2004 allegedly lies neglected, over 150 allottees staged a protest outside the BDA office at Kumara Park West on Wednesday. Those taking part were drawn from all the 22 blocks of the layout which extends across Hennur, Rachenahalli, Chellakere, Thanisandra and Jakkur.

"We do not have drinking water and manage to use water from borewells and tankers. There is no permanent electricity too and the roads in our layout are in bad shape.," executive committee member of Arkavathy Layout Association 19th block, Vimalesh Chinnaswamy told TNIE. Beginning 2014, many site owners have begun constructing houses and are residing here facing enormous difficulties on a daily basis, Chinnaswamy rued.

Secretary of the 19th block association, Kishore Shreyas said, "We have meet the commissioner a few times and even met the CM two weeks ago pleading for relief."

Arkavathy Layout allottees protest outside BDA office on Wednesday

Asked about it, a senior BDA official said that as of now sites have been allotted only on 400 acres of the proposed 2,700 acres.

"There is no continuity at all and they are spread across different parts making it very challenging to provide infrastructure. However, we have prepared an estimate for Rs 450 crore for laying water and sewage connections and given it to the BWSSB and they have vetted it. We will place it before our board for approval. Only after the water and sewerage network is in place, can we asphalt the roads. Otherwise, it will have to be dug after being laid," he explained.

BDA has scheduled a meeting on April 12 with heads of all the blocks.

PETER VIDAL

07th April : More on Leo. As we all know, Leos are determined to have only the best and never to put up with a relationship that is in any way second-rate, underhand, secretive or seedy: they'd rather be alone. In spite of their apparent enthusiasm, Leos may sometimes be slow to initiate partnerships. If you fancy a Leo, it may therefore be up to you to make the first move!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Your family may not agree and will undoubtedly argue the toss, but if you feel that a change of residence is required, you must set the wheels in motion. Professional considerations must also now be taken into account, including partners' hopes and ambitions.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
Spare no effort if domestic improvements are now underway. We're talking about superficial changes - such as redecorating and minor repairs - rather than a move of home. Yet property deals are very well aspected; could there be money to be made in bricks and mortar?

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
You must now consider your business affairs from an altogether different standpoint. If you change tack now, you will avoid being wrong-footed as the weekend draws near, and you will open doors to new possibilities. The dominant theme at home still seems to be the need to give partners full backing.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
You should be assured of a much smoother ride in personal relationships now that Venus is moving on. However, what takes place now may be similar in nature to a recent dispute in a special partnership; it's as if intimate events seem to mirror developments in the wider world.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
The bird may have flown as far as one particular offer of co-operation is concerned, but that doesn't mean that you can't now press ahead by yourself. It may be two months, though, before you fully realise the wisdom of your actions. That gives you time enough to contemplate your next step.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
There does seem to be a risk of some underhand activity in your immediate circle. Even though not necessarily ill-intentioned, the result may be bad feeling. Therefore you must make sure that all that needs to be said is voiced openly and with total honesty.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Please don't hesitate or procrastinate any longer if group activities are on the agenda. It seems very much as if you are about to take on some responsibility or other on behalf of the community at large. And the resulting increase in your confidence will have a positive impact on your relationships.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Planetary activity in or around sensitive signs of the zodiac always suits your purposes. This is why the present time could prove to be a profoundly positive one for you and all who are fortunate enough to be associated with you. Lead by example, though, rather than by expecting people to obey your instructions without question.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
You would probably rather be told that an emotional relationship is about to blossom than that a particular partnership is soon to come to an end. Actually, while the former is quite true, you must also call a halt to an involvement which has run out of steam.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Some of you are getting the idea that changing circumstances are causing you to have a tough time. The plain truth is that you have a great deal on your plate, but that life has seldom looked better. It's all a question of discovering the silver lining!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Difficult or challenging aspects between now and the end of the month could mean that your ego takes a knock. Please understand that, from the spiritual perspective, the consequences could be highly desirable. For one thing, you'll soon have a much better idea of what you're doing here!

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
There is a wonderful tie-up between planets signifying home, family, romance, creativity, work and health. What more is there to say, except that you should appreciate your good fortune? Well, for one thing, you could also make a profit! And then you could help a friend in need.

Gang sexually abuses man after kidnap; police shoot at 2 accused

Duo had attacked cop when cornered; robbed student of cash, phone, ornaments

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

TWO notorious criminals from Mangaluru were shot in the leg and arrested by the Kothanur police on Tuesday evening for allegedly forcing a man to perform oral sex on them last month. The victim, who is a student, was also kidnapped and robbed of cash, mobile phone and gold ornaments.

The accused — Mohammed Ashik (22) of Kapu in Udupi and Issac (21) of Kundapura — are undergoing treatment at a hospital in Yelahanka.

Around 5 am on March 26, Ashik, Issac and two others were roaming around in Kothanur in a car that did not have a registration number plate. The gang saw the victim, who was alone, returning home from a temple in his car. They blocked the victim's vehicle and two of them got in. They threatened him at knife point and took away his gold ring. As they were driving him around Bellandur, Whitefield and other areas, they demanded Rs 50,000 and threatened to kill him if he did not arrange the money. They snatched his ATM card and took the PIN from him, but could withdraw only Rs 6,000. "With the money falling short, the accused drove the car towards Sarjapura Main Road and forced the victim to perform sexual act on them. Later, the gang dropped him and escaped," said Deputy Commissioner of Police (North East) Anoop A Shetty.

After registering the case, Kothanur police checked CCTV footage at the ATM kiosks and found out about the gang who called themselves 'Team Garuda-900'. After the incident, the gang had camped in Mangaluru and Udupi for almost a week. On Tuesday, the police learnt that the gang was moving in Jakkur in a red car. Seven policemen in two vehicles chased the car and surrounded them at Shivaram Karanth Layout. When the accused attacked a sub-inspector, the other officers fired at the accused.

The gang committed robberies, extortions, house and cattle thefts. They were active in Mangaluru, Udupi and Kundapura. They have criminal records since they were minors, and were leading a lavish life. They had over 10 warrants against them for jumping bail.

'Burns policy' for Karnataka is vital, say stakeholders

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A PUBLIC hearing on women who were set on fire by their husbands, or were driven to do so themselves, turned into an emotionally charged session, with the victims keen to get better jobs and good education for their children. The need to have a comprehensive 'Burns policy' was also emphasised.

The meet, organised by NGO Aweksha at its premises on Myrtle Lane on Wednesday, had 10 burns survivors narrating their ordeals, before plastic surgeries and treatment facilitated their recovery. Setting the tone for the event, K Satya of Aweksha said, "Many of the women are not victims of stove bursts, as claimed by them initially to police, but are deliberate, calculated, outright murders."

Burns survivor Gowri recalled the sexual violence she was subjected to by her husband, even after the birth of three children. "My only goal is good education for my three daughters," she said. Sangeetha, a Bengaluru native, said after her husband passed away due to jaundice, she was left with two children. "His family refused to support me. A person I met promised to take good care of them, so I married him. However, it was continuous torture, so I decided to end my life by setting myself on fire," she said.

Vasantha, a native of Kolar, realised her Bengaluru-based husband was having affairs with multiple women. "I questioned him about it and in the midst of furious arguments, he threw a burning lamp at me," she recalled. Chandrakala's husband poured kerosene on her from behind and set her on fire, when she was ironing clothes at home, she recalled.

Better facilities for victims

She urged the State government to upgrade facilities at government burns wards across Karnataka, on the lines of those at Victoria Hospital.

Priyanka Mary Francis, Director of Women and Child Department, said the proposal to ready more One Stop Centres (OSC) is in the offing, whereby victims can avail of all services under one roof, instead of running from pillar to post.

Pramila Naidu, Chairperson of Karnataka State Commission for Women, assured support for the policy. She also impressed on the need to file a strong first information report (FIR) with correct facts so that justice can be rendered.

Dr Ramesh K T, Head of Department of Burns, Victoria Hospital, said compensation must be provided for any kind of disfigurement caused due to burns, rather than the rule of providing compensation only for those with 40 per cent and more disability.

HC: Take swift decision on affiliation to med colleges

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

TAKING note of a rise in litigation due to delay in granting or refusing affiliation for enhancing intake of students in medical colleges, the Karnataka High Court said it is incumbent upon the state government to recommend to the authorities to grant or refuse affiliation, giving reasons in writing, within reasonable time.

The court noted that applications seeking affiliation/recognition are made for a specific academic year, and the process of consideration should take place with clockwork precision, and final order granting or refusing affiliation should be issued well before commencement of that academic year.

Passing the order while disposing of a petition filed by Shanti Dhama College of Physiotherapy, Justice P Krishna Bhat said it is also necessary for the government to remind the authorities, in view of the large number of litigations, that the authorities involved in the process should make a decision within a reasonable time.

Home Guard returns suitcase with ₹20L gold

ENS @Bengaluru

A train passenger, who lost his suitcase containing 350 grams of gold jewels, worth Rs 20 lakh, at the KSR Bengaluru Railway Station on Tuesday night, got it back in a few hours thanks to a homeguard.

Home Guard Gururaj, attached to the Government Railway Police, received much appreciation for his efforts from his seniors.

According to an official release, Ramesh Chand arrived with his family at the station around 9.30 pm to travel on the Mysore Ajmer Express to Mysuru. He had 20 pieces of baggage with him and realised only after two hours that a suitcase with jewels had gone missing. He approached the GRP police station at KSR Bengaluru and filed a complaint.

Cabinet expansion soon, Bommai discusses aspirants with Nadda

CM stayed back in New Delhi for meeting, had held talks with Shah in K'taka earlier

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI
@ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai, who called on BJP national president J P Nadda at the BJP headquarters in New Delhi on Wednesday evening, held a marathon one-on-one discussion about the cabinet expansion and its impact on the party organisation. With this, the much awaited cabinet reshuffle is likely to happen soon. He later visited Union Minister for Parliamentary Affairs Pralhad Joshi at his residence, and discussed certain issues for over an hour.

As the issue had already been discussed with Union Home Minister Amit Shah during his Karnataka visit, Nadda's nod was only a formality, according to sources. Bommai discussed the impact of cabinet expansion on the government and party organisation, and keeping that in view, either expansion or reshuffle is likely to take place soon. But whether it will happen before April 10 or after the BJP state executive, slated to be held on April 16 and 17 at Vijayanagara, is yet to be decided, a source informed TNIE.

Bommai reportedly met Nadda earlier in the morning too, on the sidelines of BJP Foundation Day, and sought an appointment to discuss in detail the list of probables. Apparently, he stayed back in New Delhi to discuss the issue, as the aspirants too are camping there, eagerly awaiting the outcome of the meeting.

According to sources, the duo spoke about inducting new faces and the seniors to be dropped, and how to make use of their experience to help the party organisation with the upcoming assembly polls. Giving representation to different communities was also discussed. Bommai had held a round of talks with Amit Shah, following which general secretary B L Santhosh also approved of the expansion, sources said. If the cabinet is expanded, Bommai has four vacant berths to fill, and if it's a reshuffle, at least eight ministers would be dropped, sources said.

After election results of five states were declared, aspirants kept up pressure on Bommai to expand his cabinet. The contenders include MLC C P Yogishwara, Gokak MLA Ramesh Jarkiholi, Dharwad South MLA Aravind Bellad, Surpur MLA Rajugowda, Udupi MLA Raghupati Bhat, Hassan MLA Preetham Gowda, Hiriyur MLA Poornima Srinivas, Kalaburagi South MLA Dattatreya Patil Revoor, CM's political secretary and Honnali MLA M P Renukacharya, Kudachi MLA P Rajeev, Vijayapura MLA Basanagouda Patil Yatnal, Mudigere MLA M P Kumaraswamy, Thippareddy from Chitradurga, among others.

Former chief minister B S Yediyurappa's son and state BJP vice-president B Y Vijayendra's name was also discussed, according to sources.

PM gives task to Bommai: Develop 75 lakes

"PRIME Minister Narendra Modi has assigned various tasks for party leaders, and instructed me to develop 75 lakes in Karnataka. It will be launched as a special programme in Kolar district under the leadership of Modi," Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai said in New Delhi on Wednesday. Bommai briefed the press after taking part in the BJP Foundation Day fete, where Modi addressed party leaders and booth-level workers. Bommai also met Union Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman and claimed that she had responded positively to the projects discussed. Giving approval for declaring Upper Bhadra project as a National Project, he said the process is in its final stage. Sitharaman will visit Karnataka to convene a special meeting to address issues related to Central projects, he informed. He also called on Defence Minister Rajnath Singh with regard to getting affiliation for Sangolli Rayanna School as Sainik School.

Home Minister draws flak for linking murder to language

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

HOME Minister Araga Jnanendra linked the murder of a 22-year-old youth here to language, but retracted his statement within a few hours. His statement drew strong criticism from the opposition parties, while a Congress delegation submitted a complaint against him accusing him of "trying to disturb communal harmony".

Chandru, a resident of Cottonpet, was stabbed to death by a gang of three in JJ Nagar police station limits in the wee hours of Tuesday. Reacting to the incident on Wednesday, Jnanendra said, "I have gathered information regarding Chandru's murder. He was asked to speak in Urdu, but he didn't know. When he said he didn't know any language other than Kannada, they killed him by stabbing him repeatedly," Jnanendra said adding that Chandru, a dalit youth, was killed inhumanly.

Within a few hours, he retracted his statement and clarified that it was source-based information and was wrong. "I have just got the detailed report. I had said the murder was due to a language issue, but it is not correct. He had died because of stabbing following a bike collision incident," Jnanendra said.

BJP National General Secretary C T Ravi backed the home minister and demanded a thorough probe into the matter.

The home minister's statement was strongly criticised by the opposition parties. In Mysuru, KPCC president DK Shivakumar demanded that the Bengaluru City Police Commissioner register a case and arrest Jnandera for instigating communal tensions between two religions.

Former CM and opposition leader Siddaramaiah said it was unfortunate that Jnanendra is the home minister of the state and he is unfit to continue in the post.

JDS leader H D Kumaraswamy also criticised the statement, alleging that it was aimed at disturbing communal harmony. "The ruling BJP is trying to play politics even in a murder case," he said.

However, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai told reporters in New Delhi that he has no information regarding the incident.

While a delegation of BJP leaders visited the house of the deceased and gave a compensation of Rs 5 lakh to his kin, a Congress delegation filed a complaint against Jnanendra and C T Ravi in Malleshwara police station, demanding their arrest.

Hindu outfits heckle Puttur BJP MLA

ENS @Mangaluru

THE BJP MLA of Puttur was at the receiving end of Hindutva outfit members for not coming to the rescue of those arrested in the moral policing incident that took place in Uppinangady of Dakshina Kannada district on Monday.

A video of the MLA getting mobbed and heckled has gone viral on social media.

Barely a few hours after two of the accused were arrested on Tuesday, the outfit members mobbed Matandoor when he was waiting for a bus at Uppinangady on his way of Bengaluru. They shouted slogans against him and even heckled him.

Sources said a few leaders of a Hindutva outfit first approached him at the bus stop and took objection to the police arresting their members.

By 11.30 pm, when the MLA was about to board the bus, about 50 men gathered at the spot and mobbed him. They shouted slogans when the MLA told them that the incident took place in neighbouring Sullia Assembly constituency, and not in his constituency. After sometime, the protesters dispersed, following the MLA's assurance that he will look into the issue.

Jobs: Cong to send marks cards to PM

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @Bengaluru

IN an unique campaign, the Karnataka Youth Congress will collect copies of markscards of approximately 3.7 lakh youths and send them to Prime Minister Narendra Modi. For this, it is all set to launch an unemployment survey across the state. Karnataka will be the first state to start such a campaign by the Congress.

KPCC president DK Shivakumar said the initiative got the nod from Congress leader Rahul Gandhi during his visit to Bengaluru recently.

Explaining how they plan to go about it, Karnataka Youth Congress president Mohammed Haris Nalapad said 58,000 booths across the state will soon have unit presidents who will coordinate data of unemployed youths. "We will select a digital youth member who will use a mobile application to identify and feed data of youths with no jobs. He or she will have to identify 30 to 40 unemployed youths, who are graduates and aged under 35 years," he added.

The party is aiming to reach at least 10,000 jobless youths in every district. The Congress will also organise district-level conventions for unemployed youths. "We will ask them to bring photocopies of their marks cards. The party will make all arrangements, including envelopes, to send these to the PM," Nalapad said.

@ Shivamogga

REACTING to the statement by KPCC chief D K Shivakumar that due to frequent clashes and clamping of Section 144 of CrPC, businessmen have been severely hit, Rural Development and Panchayat Raj Minister K S Eshwarappa said the Congress leader is not happy about peace prevailing in Shivamogga. "So he has commented. There is no confusion over the issue of business in the city. People have decided to continue their business in a peaceful manner, said Eshwarappa.

He said the state government was successful in restoring peace in the city after the communal clash following the murder of Harsha. But Shivakumar is not satisfied over the peaceful atmosphere. There is no room for any further disturbance in Shivamogga. All business will be carried out peacefully, he said.

To a question on cabinet expansion, Eshwarappa said there were four vacant ministerial berths in the cabinet. Central leaders and the Chief Minister will decide whether to fill up only the vacant posts or go for a cabinet reshuffle. Everyone in the party will abide by their decision, he added.

IN the end, al-Zawahiri adds that the incident inspired him to write a poem which he recited and asked Muskaan to accept it as a gift of words from him.

Meanwhile, Araga Jnanendra said, "This is evidence of what we have been saying right from the start that there are 'unseen hands' that are part of the conspiracy. It is not normal for mere children to behave this way which is what the courts also maintained. The police have been asked to trace from where that video originated and the links."

Incidentally, sources in the security establishment said that after the video surfaced, a vigil is being maintained on Muskaan's house in Mandya.

Higher Education Minister Dr CN Ashwath Narayan expressed displeasure about a terror outfit — blamed for the 9-11 US bombings and several other attacks around the world — speaking about incidents in Karnataka and India, and said suitable legal action will be taken against them.

Former Union minister and ex-MLC CM Ibrahim, who recently joined JDS, said al-Qaeda is in no way related to Karnataka or India, and Muskaan is not aware of that outfit. "This video is created to mislead people," he added.

He said Hindus and Mulsims have lived together for centuries despite attempts to divide them. But harmony has always emerged on top in the land of Basaveshwara and the saints.

Men in khakhi make smooth transition to khadi

BALA CHAUHAN @ Bengaluru

BUREAUCRATS diving into active politics is not new in Karnataka. Former police commissioner, Additional Director General of Police and senior IPS officer Bhaskar Rao is the newest bureaucrat to don khadi.

In May 2019, then SP and IPS officer (2011 batch) K Annamalai resigned from service. He is today BJP Tamil Nadu President. Rao and Annamalai are, however, no trend setters.

Several IAS and IPS officers of Karnataka cadre have dabbled in politics in the past too, albeit with little success. Former Bengaluru police commissioners P Kodandaramaiah, L Revannasiddaiah, HT Sangliana and Shankar Bidari entered the political landscape with a notion to "serve the country and society", as Bidari told TNIE.

He had joined the BJP on the threshold of political change in India -- July 2013. "I have become neutral in the last four years because of electoral corruption," added the former IPS officer. Sangliana joined the BJP "on invitation" and was elected to the Lok Sabha from Bengaluru North in 2004. In 2008, he joined the Congress and lost.

Kodandaramaiah won the Lok Sabha polls in 1996 from Chitradurga on a JDS ticket, Revannasiddaiah contested against former chief minister Siddaramaiah in Varuna in 2008, and lost. In 2013, he joined the Congress and in 2018, returned to the BJP.

On bureaucrats plunging into active politics, Director, Public Affairs Centre (PAC) and former IAS officer, Karnataka cadre, Gurucharan Gollerkeri said, "It is not a bad thing. The civil servant brings formal training and experience to her/ his new role. And politics in India needs infusion of new blood and higher standards of professionalism. After all, both civil service and politics have the same objective -- to serve the people, help advance development, and move towards a just and humane society," he told TNIE.

"Unlike in the past, when the government was omnipresent, the role of civil service has diminished considerably, with liberalisation and privatisation. Politics has come to permeate almost every aspect of socio-economic development. This makes some civil servants consider politics as an alternative career. The success of civil servants -- think Kejriwal, Jaishankar, Hardeep Puri, RP Singh etc -- also provides hope and inspiration to aspiring civil servant-politicians. Many join with good intentions and hope to become agents of change," said the former IAS officer.

Time for K'taka to embrace AAP, says Bhaskar Rao

BENGALURU: Former police commissioner and retired Indian Police Service (IPS) officer Bhaskar Rao exhorted the people of Karnataka to reject corruption and corrupt politicians and instead, opt for the Delhi model of governance of Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) National Convenor Arvind Kejriwal. Rao was recently inducted into AAP after he was recently relieved from service. He had opted for voluntary retirement from a 32-year-old career last year. While addressing the media in the city on Wednesday, the former cop said Karnataka does not have any shortage of land, water or other resources. What it lacked was a corruption-free government. He said he has seen corruption from close quarters. "For each post, officers are forced to pay crore of rupees. Every post is auctioned. A police commissioner cannot appoint a DCP, ACP and inspector of his choice. Recently, contractors wrote to the Prime Minister that the ministers were demanding 40 per cent commission on public works," he said. Taking a dig at political leaders, Rao said one can see huge bungalows and high-end cars parked outside in RT Nagar, JP Nagar and Sadashivanagar. "Where have they got this wealth from? It is the tax payers' money," he added.

Police checking noise levels

FOLLOWING directions from the top, the police in all districts have started checking the decibel levels of loudspeakers installed at religious places. The police, equipped with instruments provided by the Karnataka State Pollution Control Board, are checking the noise levels to find out if they are within permissible limits. Notices have been served to several institutions for violations, sources said.

In Bengaluru, several mosques are reportedly installing devices on their loudspeakers to ensure that the sound does not cross the permissible decibel level. Over the last few days, there has been a growing demand for a ban on loudspeakers at mosques.

THE gap between the Raj Bhavan and the Pragathi Bhavan widened further, as Governor Tamilisai Soundararajan on Wednesday blasted the State government for "insulting" the Raj Bhavan and neglecting the infrastructure of government hospitals. Speaking to media in Delhi after meeting Prime Minister Narendra Modi, the Governor said, "there is no reason for the State government to be like that with Raj Bhavan. I am not perturbed by the way the government is treating the Governor. I will move forward and do not care for violation of protocols. I am a lady Governor and friendly Governor," she averred.

For the record, the Governor submitted a report on the state political situation and also discussed the Covid-19 vaccination drive with the Prime Minister. However, issues like paddy procurement, the gap between the Raj Bhavan and the Pragathi Bhavan might have figured in the one-on-one meeting between the Governor and the Prime Minister. The Governor met the Prime Minister at latter's office in the Parliament. The Governor said that she was not giving any report card to the Governor.

The differences between the Raj Bhavan and the CM's Office started after the Governor held back a file relating to the nomination of Padi Kaushik Reddy to the Legislative Council under Governor's quota in August, 2021. After that the Governor openly made critical remarks against the State government for more than half a dozen times.

Reshuffle in AP; ministers likely to resign today

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Vijayawada

Andhra Pradesh Chief Minister YS Jagan Mohan Reddy on Wednesday called on Governor Biswa Bhusan Harichandan and apprised him of the imminent Cabinet overhaul on April 11. Jagan has reportedly sought the Governor's appointment for the swearing-in ceremony.

The State Cabinet, the last one with the present composition, would meet on Thursday during which the ministers would hand over their resignations to the CM, sources said. Jagan, however, is keeping his cards regarding the new team close to his chest.

Jagan took charge as chief minister on July 30, 2019 and on the same day announced that he would reshuffle his Cabinet halfway through the five-year tenure. Though the said period ended last December, the revamp was delayed due to the pandemic and other reasons.

At a recent meeting of the YSRC Legislature Party, Jagan clarified that he would go for a Cabinet rejig and give party posts to those who would be dropped. He asked such leaders to strive hard for the party's victory in the next elections and assured them of a berth in the Cabinet that he would form after winning the elections.

Jagan is likely to assign the posts of party district presidents or regional coordinators to the ministers who would be dropped so they can lead the party for the elections in 2024. Sources said the CM might retain one or two ministers in the new team. It is likely that Jagan would once again go with the five deputy chief ministers – each from SC, ST, BC, minority and Kapu communities. In the present team, the Reddy community accounts for a good share of berths followed by the Kapu community. The two are likely to get the same share in the new team, too, sources revealed.

This amendment was met with strong opposition from the forestry students and several memorandums in this regard have been submitted by the students and forestry college managements from across the state last year. However, the amendment remains unchanged and the students have now taken to protests, demanding for justice.

EVEN as the protests against SilverLine are going on strongly across Kerala, the semi high-speed rail project's implementing body K-Rail informed the Kerala High Court on Monday that the state government has absolute authority to enter the property of landowners for the purpose of demarcation and taking levels of the notified lands. K-Rail filed the affidavit in response to the petitions against SilverLine.

In the affidavit filed by joint general manager Deepa Joy, K-Rail stated the petitioners' allegation that the government authorities were engaging in disproportionate use of force, exceeding their authority and causing grave human rights violation is incorrect.

The preliminary land acquisition proceedings were initiated based on the "in-principle approval" received from the Railway Board for the feasibility report, the affidavit said.

The ongoing social impact assessment is a preliminary land acquisition activity and it is not related to the DPR which is under examination by the Railway board. The survey is not vitiated by malafide, the affidavit said.

GOVT SAYS MAKING KANNADA COMPULSORY A POLICY DECISION

Referring to the stand of the Union government that there is no mention of any compulsory language under NEP, the court said, "We prima facie find that the impugned government orders cannot be implemented or put into operation. Both the orders are stayed till further orders."

The Kannada Development Authority had filed an impleading application and the court asked it to file objections if any. The court orally observed that it is not against any language and is only looking at whether any regional language can be made compulsory under NEP.

On December 16, 2021, the court observed, "We are of the view that the matter with respect to implementation of Kannada language as a compulsory subject in higher studies on the basis of implementing the NEP is a question which requires consideration and as such, the State Government at this stage should not insist to make the language compulsory. The students who have already taken Kannada on the basis of their choice may do so, but all such students who do not wish to take Kannada should not be compelled to pursue it till further orders."

Contending that students coming from other states who have not learnt Kannada are bound to fail as they cannot study the language at the graduation level, the petitioners claimed that the government orders would affect over 1.30 lakh students and 4,000 language teachers.

The state government contended that making Kannada compulsory was a policy decision in tune with the recommendations of the VK Gokak Committee report. Already, four lakh students have taken admission opting Kannada as a subject and admissions are almost over and the petitioner-students have already studied Kannada up to class 12. As such, they cannot have any objection in studying Kannada language in higher studies, the government argued.

MERGERS FOR CHEAP FUNDS, BUT DON'T JUNK STANDARDS

Consolidation of the Indian banking sector has just gained a second wind. This time around, it'll be led by private sector lenders, unlike the first tranche that saw mergers of public sector banks (PSBs) during 2017–2020. Last week, India's third-largest private lender Axis Bank agreed to buy Citibank's consumer banking business for a staggering $1.6 billion to narrow the gap with its contemporary ICICI Bank. The ink was barely dry when the country's largest private lender HDFC Bank announced the long-speculated merger with its parent entity HDFC Ltd to strengthen its overall market position and accelerate business growth. Experts believe the disparate developments have broader implications for the banking sector besides indicating scope for further consolidation of smaller and mid-size banks.

Currently, we have 12 PSBs, 22 private banks and 46 foreign ones, besides regional, urban and rural cooperative banks. As has been emphasised often, India needs to have at least 4–5 large lenders to cater to the changing needs of the post-pandemic economy with an ability to fund big ticket loans and spur the next investment cycle. Interestingly, the HDFC twins merger also puts spotlight on NBFCs and the synergies one can gain aligning with banks, foremost being the lower cost of funds. While the buoyancy in the equity markets offers scope for private banks to explore inorganic growth, consolidation also appears eminent for small- and mid-size banks facing chronic asset quality issues constraining their capital availability. Going forward, size and scale are important, and unless a lender commands an asset base of a certain threshold, sustaining profit margins over the long-term will be difficult. For now, these banks may offer higher interest rates to attract depositors. But in contrast, cheap deposits are key to banks' profitability, which the smaller lenders may find difficult to achieve with higher deposit rates. Whether the sector will see more mergers or not, it's essential that the key factors that took PSBs to the death's door—asset quality, profitability and capital availability—should always be adhered to. The RBI's supervision too needs to be letter perfect.

GREAT START, KEEP UP PACE AT GLOBAL LEVEL

The 25th National Federation Cup Senior Athletics meet, which concluded in Kozhikode on Wednesday, has again emphasised the raw talent that exists within the country. The nascent long-jump rivalry between M Sreeshankar and Jeswin Aldrin already went into overdrive as both men pushed each other to beyond 8.30 metres, hitherto unheard of in Indian athletics. While Aldrin won gold, Sreeshankar, whose 8.36m was a centimetre below Aldrin's, set a new personal best as the former's jump was wind-assisted. Long-jump wasn't the only discipline to see a new national record; Amlan Borgohain set a new mark in the men's 200m (his 20.52 seconds was 10th of a second quicker than the earlier record).

In the men's discus, Kirpal Singh set a new meet record and became one of the few Indians to breach the 61.5m mark. In the process, he also qualified for the Asian Games. Andhra Pradesh's Jyothi Yarraji also ran the fastest 200m ever by an Indian woman but that didn't count as it was also wind-assisted. While records tumbling during a national-level athletics event isn't unheard of, this is the effect of modern coaching technology and the implementation of sports science at all levels. Aldrin and Sreeshankar's marks are a testament to this. Aldrin is a product of Inspire Institute of Sport and they have worked on him over the last few years to iron out the technical flaws. While he's nowhere near the finished product, breaching the 8m mark—considering the basic for all Olympic level long-jumpers—so early in his career (he doesn't turn 21 till December) bodes well not only for his future but also for his rivalry with Sreeshankar, who himself burst on the scene a few summers ago.

The overall development is heartening but also timely because this is a loaded year with the World Championships, Asian Games and the Commonwealth Games scheduled to be held in the space of a few months. The challenge up ahead is simple. Doing well at national-level events is well and good but they have to replicate that success at the international level. For we have time and again seen athletes doing well at the national-level but struggling to even compete at the international level.

Administrative collapse in Karnataka has been apparent and communalism is an effective diversion. The next Assembly polls are fast approaching, which makes it even more attractive

BALANCING OPINION AND DIVERTING ATTENTION

SUGATA SRINIVASARAJU

Senior journalist and author

SOUMYADIP SINHA

When there is a rise in communal incidents, like in Karnataka for the past few months, three conjectures are often made: one, an election is round the corner; two, there is ideological intransigence that keeps ploughing on no matter what; or three, there is too much economic pressure with vanishing jobs, soaring prices and crumbling infrastructure, and the government wishes to desperately divert attention. In the case of Karnataka, all three may be true at this juncture.

There is no less dangerous option among these three conjectures because all of them have the exact same impact on our society. A relatively less evil reasoning does not make the poison more palatable, because poison has only one effect on whom it is served. However, when people react to communalism, they do so from their own particular and peculiar perch in society. For instance, those in business react when communal incidents threaten their investments and profits. If a low-intensity communal explosion is happening, and if it does not immediately threaten to down their shutters, they are happy to look the other away. They are structurally designed not to think long-term because brooding over uncertainties can cloud their entrepreneurial wisdom and risk-taking. They do look for long-term stability but do not mind if that stability comes in the form of a compromised democratic avatar.

Last week, Kiran Mazumdar Shaw, a celebrity businesswoman, intervened when bigotry in Karnataka was not leaving the headlines alone. She addressed the chief minister through a tweet and said communalism had the potential to destroy Karnataka's "global leadership" in information technology (IT) and biotechnology (BT). She urged him to "resolve this growing religious divide". What she said deserves unreserved appreciation. She has always been outspoken, but this time she had spoken with a greater ounce of conviction.

But why Ms Shaw's reasoning is somewhat limited to the future of business leadership and not the well-being of society in general is a question that does not resolve itself. If business prospects are not harmed but a certain authoritarian and communal agenda is cleverly pushed, then does that become acceptable? Karnataka's communal frenzy did not take shape the week she commented. It has had a pernicious trajectory for over two decades. To just research what the IT and BT leaders in Bengaluru have argued for over the last two decades, what they have spoken or not spoken about, who they have overtly and covertly supported in self-interest will make for fine dissertations at their favourite ivy league institutions. It will expose their trapeze act.

Anyway, within two hours of having tweeted her mind, Ms Shaw called the Karnataka chief minister a "progressive leader" when he had not put on display any progressive trait. Within 24 hours, she again praised the chief minister because he had called for "restraint before going public on social issues." That was hardly a condemnation of anything that was happening in Karnataka by him, but it appears she had to balance, and balance quickly. The same day she retweeted another Bengaluru Member of Parliament speaking about upgrading industry skills and internships, when he was demonstrating ideological aggression in front of the Delhi chief minister's residence. There were different voices on her timeline from the same camp. Was it pressure or was it about thinking in silos? Ever since, Ms Shaw's Twitter timeline has made for an interesting study in the balance of opinions. Many in power at the Centre and in Karnataka, who have never expressed even minimum anxiety over growing communal tensions, are variously accommodated.

> As collapse and contradictions pile up, there is perhaps an escape that has been scripted: The anti-cow slaughter and the anti-conversion Bills are piloted with fervour and there is the exclusion of Muslim traders, among other things

Administrative collapse in Karnataka has been apparent and communalism, it is argued, is an effective diversionary tactic. The fact that the next Assembly elections is fast approaching and could even be advanced makes it even more attractive and compelling. The stories of Covid corruption have been tumbling out ceaselessly. Many of them were discussed in the state Assembly. The state government claims to have spent over ₹15,000 crores to counter the pandemic but still could not stop deaths of 24 people due to oxygen shortage in Chamarajanagar. Covid job losses have been huge. The small-scale industries minister reported in the Assembly recently that in the last two years, 754 factories were shut down and nearly 46,585 people lost their jobs. Since this is government statistics, one must assume that the number is far greater. Besides, this is one small statistic from one sector, a compilation of many such areas, formal and informal, would put the loss numbers at a staggering level.

According to government statistics again, nearly 20,000 crores of grants remained unspent in various departments and those included funds meant as scholarships for SC and ST students. It is also public knowledge that nearly 15 of the around 30-odd government departments have underperformed. Amidst this, public work contractors have written letters of complaint to no less than the prime minister that those in the government are demanding 40% commission. One should realise here that they are complaining because corruption is way above 'normal' levels. A contractor is not expecting a zero-corruption corridor but is unable to deal with unchecked greed. The money-making impulse also gets highlighted when one notices that salaries of drivers and conductors are delayed but the desire to buy new buses is intact.

As collapse and contradictions pile up, there is perhaps an escape that has been scripted: The anti-cow slaughter and the anti-conversion bills are piloted with fervour; there are riots in remote areas and questionable disbursement of compensation; there is a debate on the saffron flag hosted by a senior minister; there is of course the hijab and halal controversies; there is the exclusion of Muslim traders; Tipu Sultan is made a hate figure for a zillionth time; and it suddenly comes to light that 330 cases against bigots have been withdrawn. The Constitution is obviously subverted, and of course the word 'unconscionable' has been rendered anachronistic.

CLEAR OR BLURRED? VIEWING CHINA THROUGH CPI(M)'S LENS

ANAND P KRISHNAN

Visiting Associate Fellow, Institute of Chinese Studies, Delhi

The 23rd congress of the Communist Party of India (Marxist) commenced in Kannur, in northern Kerala, from 6 April 2022. It is after ten years that Kerala is playing host to the supreme decision-making body of the party. The party congress, normally held every three years, is an important event in the political-organisational life of the communist party—to critically assess the contemporary political-economic developments and its performance since the last congress, evolve a political-tactical line through extensive deliberations, and elect a new leadership.

Championing a politics of transformation, the CPI(M) crafts its analysis and responses by connecting domestic socio-economic issues with contemporary global developments, undergirded by the ideology of Marxism-Leninism. Its continued engagement with the international situation thereby finds reflection in the discussions at the party congress. Taking this forward, debates and conversations on the Communist Party of China (CPC) and the country itself, thus become inevitable. Being the largest among the communist parties in India, the CPI(M)'s views and analysis of contemporary China evinces much interest, especially among those who identify themselves with the mainstream left.

In keeping with its allyship with communist parties around the world, the CPI(M) has always projected the performance of communist parties-led national governments to showcase the superiority of socialism as a credible political alternative. In its draft political resolution for the 23rd congress, the party has noted China's global rise in glowing terms, by laying out GDP figures, measures undertaken for poverty alleviation and the improvement in people's living standards. Further, in mounting a stout defence of and expressing solidarity with the fraternal party, the CPI(M) has sought to deflect criticisms of the behaviour of China on contentious topics like Xinjiang, Hong Kong and Taiwan. This has been more or less the standard practice adopted in previous party congresses.

To be sure, the100-year-old CPC, as it moved from a revolutionary party to a ruling one, has helped China's transformation since the establishment of the People's Republic in 1949—smashing feudal relations, promoting economic development and industrialisation, and raising people's living standards. The post-1978 Reform and Opening Up (Gaige Kaifang) has reshaped China's socio-economic contours. In fact, economic growth is the bedrock for the CPC to sustain its legitimacy to rule. However, the Chinese success story has also produced different forms of disparities—widening inequality, and unbalanced or inadequate development is a plaguing reality. China's Gini coefficient has remained between 0.46 and 0.49 for the last two decades; while it has more than 1000 billionaires, over 600 million Chinese people subsist on average monthly incomes of less than $140, admitted by Premier Li Keqiang himself in 2020.

The reforms have recast workplace relations and labour politics, resulting in heavy social and human costs. Regimented work practices, despotic managements, coercive discipline and chronic deficiencies in labour standards have heightened workers' discontent and sharpened conflicts. These have been met with violent repression by the state. Labour in China today stands politically disenfranchised. The reforms have also impacted CPC's class analysis—class antagonisms have been de-emphasised and the intention has been to channel politics to serve economic interests by encouraging a whole range of incentives on individualism and the open market. Remaining deeply integrated with the world economy, China is also a strong defender of economic globalisation, as exemplified by Xi Jinping 's speech at the World Economic Forum at Davos in 2017.

This de-ideologisation of China's political economy has had a knock-on effect on CPC's membership and cadre recruitment strategies. The traditional social base of the party—peasantry and industrial workers—has been gradually shrinking, and in turn, there has been a steady absorption of new classes of entrepreneurs, urban professionals and university graduates, underlining the technocratic turn. Xi Jinping's appointment as the core leader with absolute centralisation of power overrides the convention for succession institutionalised by Deng Xiaoping. The adoption of the resolution on major achievements and historical experience on the CPC's 100 years in November 2021 has lionised Xi and equated him with Mao and Deng.

> Viewed against these contradictions and contentions, the CPI(M)'s articulations extolling its fraternal party comes across as glaringly partial to those with deeper engagement and knowledge on China; to the extent, this resembles a literal copying of Chinese propaganda, lacking any critical analysis

Viewed against these contradictions and contentions, the CPI(M)'s articulations extolling its fraternal party comes across as glaringly partial to those with deeper engagement and knowledge on China; to the extent, this resembles a literal copying of Chinese propaganda, lacking any critical analysis of the 20th party congress in Kozhikode in 2012, articulation on China was precisely aimed in that direction. However, there does not seem to be a more sustained, deeper engagement since then. However, emerging from news reports of conferences at the party's lower levels in Kerala in the run-up to the congress, the cadre seem to be expressing their sharp criticisms of China's current trajectory. Clearly, there is a far greater need for CPI(M)—and others in the Indian mainstream Left—for deeper engagement and study of China. Rather than labelling critics as people with vested interest, or only juxtaposing China vis-a-vis the US, it would be prudent to hear and accept their criticisms, which in turn would only help in making even nuanced understandings, better, sharper, and be evidence-based. Until then, China will remain as the elephant in the room causing discomfiture, inviting inconvenient questions and compelling awkward tight-rope walking.

Illogical comparison

Justifying the frequent fuel price hikes, the Union petroleum minister has compared our rates with some developed countries. It is not an appropriate comparison as the conditions differ from country to country based on the living standards and inflationary trends. This fails to convince the people who are feeling the pinch of frequent fuel price hikes and are reeling under extreme financial hardships.

A perfunctory exercise?

This is with reference to The BIMSTEC charter: Much ado about nothing (April 6). The progress of BIMSTEC is far from satisfactory. But since 2016, cooperation in matters of security has also been assumed as one of the objectives of BIMSTEC. To what extent the theme of the grouping's summit in Thailand—'Towards a Resilient Region, Prosperous Economies and Healthy People'—will be carried forward is doubtful as it is likely to be a perfunctory exercise. At least, it can involve in mitigating the economic crisis in Sri Lanka.

To check noise pollution

The attempt by the Karnataka government to regulate decibel levels of loudspeakers used for Azaan in mosques should be taken in the right spirit. Firstly, Gods aren't deaf. Secondly, it is the responsibility of the government to control noise pollution in whatever form, ensuring that laws are applied equally to every community using loudspeakers in their respective places of worship.

Caste a sensitive issue

This is with reference to Vanniyar quota case opens door for caste census in TN (April 6). As rightly pointed out, in the absence of any reliable data there is no justification to treat one particular community—the Vanniyars—with a special and an internal quota of 10.5%. It should be borne in mind that an exercise of conducting a caste based census will only stir a hornet's nest as there is every possibility that the present percentage of reservation for many castes could be reduced. In that case, there will be large scale agitations by leaders of various caste-based parties. If some of the existing reservations require downward revision, then there may be a huge law and problem. As such the TN government should soft pedal on this sensitive issue.

RS seat tussle puts J'khand govt in danger

While JMM patriarch was elected to Upper House earlier, Cong in no mood to relent this time

SHAHID FARIDI @ New Delhi

THE Jharkhand government is on shaky ground as coalition partners Jharkhand Mukti Morcha and Congress are caught in a face-off over cornering the lone Rajya Sabha seat in the offing.

Congress general secretary in charge of Jharkhand Avinash Pande has reportedly asked his MLAs not to meet Chief Minister Hemant Soren for the next two months for building pressure on the JMM leader to heed to the demands of the grand old party.

But, Congress MLAs are not happy with Pande's order. In the 81-member Assembly, Congress has 16 MLAs, four of whom are ministers. These ministers and some legislatorss, have questioned Pande's call saying it would be difficult for them to function without meeting the chief minister. The MLAs want the party leadership to sit down with Soren to sort out issues.

The Congress legislators said that Soren is very upset with Pande's call to boycott him. He has reportedly said that if the Congress does not want to deal with him, it was free to withdraw support and end the relationship.

Soren wants the Congress to stop taking adversarial position and follow coalition dharma by trying to resolve issues through dialogue.

Boycott was not a solution but a bigger problem, the chief minister asserted said.

The Congress leadership is miffed with Soren for what it terms as his "continued attempts to sideline the party by refusing to accept reasonable demands, and address concerns."

Pande, meanwhile, holds a grudge against the CM for not meeting him twice during his visits to Ranchi.

The two parties have been at loggerheads right from the day they won election in the state as pre-poll allies.

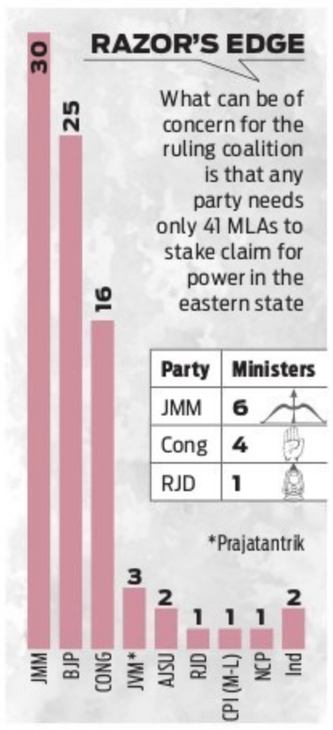
The Congress claims it was denied the post of Deputy Chief Minister and Deputy Speaker when the government was formed in the state.

The Jharkhand Mukti Morcha also laid claim when the first Rajya Sabha vacancy came by insisting on sending party patriarch Shibu Soren to the Upper House.

The ruling alliance now has another Rajya Sabha seat coming its way. And the two partners do not want to let go off the opportunity to get it.

Under pressure from party dissidents seeking renomination, the Congress leadership has been trying to mop up every possible seat from across the country. The party is in desperate need to shore up its dwindling strength in the Upper House of Parliament.

The Jharkhand Mukti Morcha, on the other hand, says it has 30 MLAs in the Assembly and only six ministers, while the Congress has four ministers with only 16 legislators.



Upper House passes Criminal Procedure Bill amid opposition dissent

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

AMID concerns raised by several opposition MPs that basic civil liberties, human rights and possible dangers to vulnerable groups in the absence of a data protection law, the Rajya Sabha on Wednesday passed the Criminal Procedure (Identification) Bill, 2022, by voice vote.

During a three-hour debate, Union Home Minister Amit Shah clarified that the objective of the Bill is to improve the efficacy of crime detection and assured the House that no one's privacy and human rights will be infringed upon, and that strict guidelines will be enforced to ensure access control over the data.

The Bill was passed by the Lok Sabha earlier this week. Serious concerns have been raised about the provisions of safety and privacy of bioprints to be collected from convicts, with former top cops expressing concern that police can misuse it and plant evidence.

The home minister said the Bill is part of a larger environment to use modern technology to assist in investigations and there is no political intention behind it.

Speaking on the Bill, former home minister and Congress leader P Chidambaram called it "unscientific" and "illegal" and that the disadvantaged population will be the worst sufferers. He also mentioned about the six per cent failure rate of fingerprint recognition under UIDAI.

Calling it "draconian", TMC MP Sukhendu Sekhar Roy claimed the Bill has wide-ranging implications for rights to privacy, equality and freedom and the provision of a long retention period in the Bill violates principles of natural justice as well as Article 23 of the Constitution.

DMK MP Tiruchy Siva termed it "repressive, oligarchic" and one that erodes fundamental rights of citizens and has strong implications for basic civil liberties and human rights.

Provisions of proposed law

The Criminal Procedure (Identification) Bill, 2022, replaces the Identification of Prisoners Act, 1920

Data permitted to be collected under the 1920 law included fingerprints, foot-print impressions, photographs. The 2022 Bill adds biological samples and their analysis, behavioural attributes including signatures and handwriting, blood samples, semen, hair samples, and swabs, and analyses such as DNA profiling

Persons whose data could be collected under the 1920 Act included persons convicted or arrested for offences punishable with rigorous imprisonment of one year or more, persons ordered to give security for good behaviour or maintaining peace. A magistrate may order, in other cases, collection from any arrested person. Under the new Bill, the data can be collected from a person convicted or arrested for any offence or detained under any preventive detention law and, on the order of the magistrate, from any person.

Only BJP opposes family politics: PM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

BJP leaders listen to Prime Minister Narendra Modi's virtual address on the party's foundation day in Delhi | PTI

ADDRESSING party workers on BJP's foundation day on Wednesday, Prime Minister Narendra Modi once again hit out at political dynasties. He reiterated that family-based parties have not allowed youth to grow.

Modi said that members of these family-led governments dominate at all levels, from local bodies to Parliament. "There are two kinds of politics in the country. One stands for 'parivar bhakti' (devoted to family) and another for 'deshbhakti' (patriotism). At the central level and in the states, we have some political parties which work only for the interest of their families," he said. "They are in different states but connected. These family-led parties have not allowed the country's youth to grow. They have always betrayed them."

He added that BJP is the only party alerting the country about the pitfalls of dynasty politics and party workers should be proud of that. "These parties mess up democracy, disregard the constitution and constitutional arrangements. Our workers are fighting against this injustice, ill treatment and violation of democratic values," Modi said.

It was the 42nd foundation day of the party. Several activities were held at the BJP headquarters in the national capital as well as in district and ward level offices across states.

BJP chief JP Nadda interacted with diplomats of 13 countries at the party headquarters as part of the 'Know BJP' initiative to connect with the 'overseas audience'.

Modi addressed party workers across the country through video conference, which was streamed live on social media platforms of the party. Modi listed the achievements and welfare schemes of the Central government, launched especially for the economically weaker sections. He also spoke about increase in exports, Covid-19 vaccination drive and India's growing influence around the globe.

He added that some parties did vote bank politics for decades but BJP has challenged this successfully. "The BJP has made the country aware of the harm caused by vote bank politics. Because of the work it has done with good intentions and sincerity, BJP is getting the blessings of the people. SCs, backward classes, tribal communities, farmers, youths and women are with BJP, which is the manifestation of the power of a new era."

TMC spokey challenges ED chief's service extension

New Delhi: TMC spokesperson Saket Gokhale has approached the Supreme Court challenging the extension of tenure of Sanjay Kumar Mishra, the chief of the Enforcement Directorate (ED). His plea contended that the extension was invalid under Section 25 of the Central Vigilance Commission Act and was in violation of the court's recent judgment in the 'Common Cause versus Union of India' case. He contended that Mishra had not uploaded his annual immovable property returns (IPR) for the years 2018, 2019 and 2020 on time, which is one of the factors for 'vigilance clearance' of officers. Saket cited an office order that requires all civil servants to file IPRs and further, to initiate disciplinary proceedings against those who did not file IPRs on time.

Centre given two weeks to respond to plea on Domestic Violence Act

New Delhi: The Supreme Court on Wednesday granted two weeks to the government to file an affidavit on the nature of Central programmes/plans outlining assistance to support the efforts under the Domestic Violence Act by various states, including the extent of funding, conditions of governing financial support and the control mechanisms. It also asked the Centre to collect state-wise data of litigations under the DV Act with respect to the complaints, number of courts and, the number of protection officers. It also said that when a welfare scheme is launched, there should be a provision for financial back-ups. The petition filed by advocate Shobha Gupta sought directions to the authorities for appointment, notification and establishment of protection officers, service providers and shelter homes as directed by the DV Act, 2005.

New Covid variant? Mumbai says yes, Centre no

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi/Mumbai

HOURS after Mumbai's civic body on Wednesday claimed that a case of the new XE variant of Covid-19 had been detected, top sources in Union health ministry said the genome sequencing of the patient's sample does not indicate the presence of this variant, which is said to be more transmissible than the earlier variants.

According to officials of the Brihanmumbai Municipal Corporation (BMC), a 50-year-old woman with international travel history was detected with the XE variant. She was asymptomatic and did not have comorbididities.

The XE strain, a variant of Omicron BA1 and BA2, occurs when the person is infected with more than one variant. A large number of XE variant patients were detected in the UK.

Suresh Kakani, additional municipal commissioner of BMC, said the patient is fully vaccinated. "On arrival in Mumbai on February 10, her test came negative. But later during another test, she was detected positive. She was quarantined in a hotel. She is fine. Her test samples came negative on March 3," Kakani added.

However, a Union health ministry source denied the presence of the variant in the patient's sample. "Files of the sample, which is being said to be the 'XE' variant, were analysed in detail by experts of INSACOG who inferred that the genomic constitution of this variant does not correlate with the genomic picture of 'XE' variant," the source said.

Indian SARS-CoV-2 Genomics Consortium (INSACOG) studies and monitors genome sequencing and virus variation of circulating strains of Covid-19 in India.

Kakani maintained that BMC had recently carried out genome sequencing of 230 Covid-19 samples, of which one was detected with the XE variant.

The WHO has said that early estimates suggest XE is 10 per cent more contagious than BA.2 (Omicron). However, the global health body has said that this finding requires further confirmation.

What do we know so far about the new strain

- The new Covid strain XE was first detected in the UK on January 19
- XE is a mutation of the BA.1 and BA.2 Omicron strains, referred to as a 'recombinant'.
- WHO said it appeared to be 10 per cent more transmissible than the BA.2 sub-variant of Omicron
- The new strain is also being called a stealth variant because of its ability to evade detection

HAL, Israeli firm ink deal to modify aircraft in India

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

IN a move aimed at bolstering the Make in India initiative, the Hindustan Aeronautics Limited on Wednesday entered into an agreement with Israel Aerospace Industries to convert passenger aircraft into air refueling aircraft having cargo and transport capabilities in the country. The MoU also covers passenger to freighter aircraft conversion apart from the Multi Mission Tanker Transport (MMTT) conversion.

In a statement, the HAL said the move will provide India's defence ecosystem with new capabilities and cost effective solutions. "It will facilitate decades of expertise in developing, manufacturing and producing leading defence platforms," the state-owned aerospace company added.

While the IAF operates six Russian Ilyushin tankers which were inducted in 2003, it had been trying to induct more such aircraft. As induction was not taking place, the airforce had been trying to induct refuellers on lease to plug the considered shortfall.

"The MMTTs will be a force multiplier adding endurance to the Indian military aircraft and thus will be able to remain in the air longer or reach longer distances as per the operational requirements," an IAF officer said.

WHO's grim message: Act now to keep people, earth safe from climate change

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

WITH climate change emerging as the single biggest threat facing humanity, the World Health Organisation (WHO) on Wednesday called for prioritising equitable health and accelerating steps to protect ecological systems and health to build well-being societies.

"Climate change is putting the health, well-being, and sustainable development of billions of people across the region and the world at risk. It imperils decades of progress in reducing disease-related morbidity and mortality. We must act now to keep humans and our planet healthy," said Dr Poonam Khetrapal Singh, Regional Director, WHO South-East Asia Region.

While nearly 13 million lives are lost every year due to avoidable environmental causes, climate change is expected to cause an additional 250,000 deaths annually between 2030 and 2050.

The WHO urged governments and people to take measures to protect 'our planet, our health,' which also is the theme of this year's World Health Day.

The South-East Asia Region is home to more than 2 billion people, which is highly vulnerable to climate change as it has the highest estimated number of deaths due to climate change.

Intense rainfall, frequent floods, forest fires and droughts triggered by climate change are already impacting health and livelihood and causing huge sufferings, mental health issues, deaths and displacement both in this region and globally.

Over 90 per cent of people globally breathe polluted air resulting in seven million deaths every year, including 2.4 million deaths in the region, the WHO said, adding the Covid pandemic has further exposed the inequitable and unsustainable nature of existing political, social, and commercial decisions.

Violence unabated in the Valley as militants renew attacks on migrant workers and civilians; families of workers seek government intervention for their safety

Winter in Kashmir: 66 militants gunned down

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

SIXTY-SIX militants were gunned down in encounters with security forces in the three winter months in Kashmir Valley, claimed the Jammu and Kashmir Police on Wednesday.

IGP (Kashmir) Vijay Kumar said the slain militants belonged to Jaish-e-Mohammad, Lashkar-e-Toiba and other militant groups, and were killed between December 21, 2021 and March 22 this year. The elimination of such a large number of militants has led to frustration among the insurgent groups and they are now attacking the soft targets, he said. Police sources also claimed that 15 youth have joined militant ranks in the Valley in the three months of this year so far. They said most of them belong to south Kashmir.

Last year 134 new recruits had joined militancy in J&K. Of them, 128 were in Kashmir and six in the Jammu region.

Meanwhile, two militants — each belonging to Ansar Gazwatul Hind (AuGH) and Lashkar-e-Toiba (LeT) — were killed in an encounter with troops at Tral area in south Kashmir's Pulwama district on Wednesday.

The deceased militants were identified as Umar Nabi Teli alias Talha and Shafat Muzaffar Sofi alias Muavia, both locals. "The slain militants were operating in Srinagar. After killing civilians and attacking soft targets, they shifted to Tral and were tracked and killed by security men," the IGP said.

Bihar migrant workers in J&K fear for their lives, desperate to return

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

AFTER militants in Kashmir shot at and injured two migrant workers from Bihar on Monday, family members of those who work in Kashmir are approaching the district officials in Bihar with requests to make arrangements for their safe return.

Jokhu Choudhary (45) and Pataleshwar Kumar (18) had suffered bullet injuries when militants opened fire on them in Pulwama on Monday. The victims, hailing from West Champaran district in Bihar, were hospitalised with injuries.

Around 200 migrant workers from West Champaran district in Bihar have contacted their families about the threat to their lives in Kashmir and conveyed their desperation to return home.

Prema Devi, wife of injured Choudhary, said her husband had gone to Kashmir in March last year. "Now, he is in trouble as militants are targeting outsiders. My husband wants to return home," she said. Prema claimed that around 100 workers from her village alone were stuck in Kashmir. "We have requested the district officials to help them and ensure their safe return," she added.

Dina Patel, 35, who is currently in Lajoor near Pulwama, said he and a dozen others have confined themselves in a room fearing attack. "We are scared to step out. We might meet the same fate as Jokhu and Pataleshwar," he said.

Similarly Santosh Yadav, Suresh Baitha, Rahul Patel and Nand Kishore Patel, are waiting to return as soon as their wages get cleared. "We have no money. The contractor is delaying the payment despite the fact that we all want to go home," said Santosh over phone.

Bihar CM Nitish Kumar expressed concern over the attacks on Bihari migrant workers. He said the resident commissioner in New Delhi has been asked to get in touch with the J&K administration.

In the last year, four migrant workers were killed by militants in J&K. Meanwhile, the mortal remains of CRPF head constable Vishal Kumar were cremated with full state honours in Munger. He was killed in a militant attack in Srinagar on Monday.

BJP eyes a clean sweep in UP MLC polls

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

AFTER creating history by returning to power in Uttar Pradesh for a second consecutive term, the BJP is now eying a majority in both Houses of the state legislature and making all-out efforts to sweep the UP Legislative Council polls scheduled on April 9.

The ruling party has already unanimously won nine of the 36 council seats that were up for grabs. Voting for rest 27 seats will take place on Saturday and the results will be declared on April 12.

The BJP had 35 MLCs in the 100-member Council and the nine seats have now taken its tally to 44. The party is only seven short of majority. The Samajwadi Party has 17 members while the BSP has 4 and the Congress and BJP allies Apna Dal(S) and Nishad Party have one member each. Two members belong to the teachers' group (non-political) and two are Independent.

That leaves 37 positions in the Upper House vacant, but the election will be held for 36 seats, where elected representatives of local bodies will cast votes. One seat is lying vacant due to the death of SP MLC and leader of opposition Ahmad Hassan during the Assembly polls.

The BJP is leaving no stone unturned to win all the seats. Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath has been convening virtual meetings with party's elected representatives. According to highly-placed sources in the party, ministers, MLAs and MPs have been asked to reach out to the voters to ensure an impressive victory. The party's organisational secretary Sunil Bansal and his team are keeping a close eye on the day-to-day preparations for the Council polls.

In the meeting convened by CM Yogi, around 32,000 people were virtually connected. The CM appealed to MLAs, zila panchayat members, block development council members, mayors, municipal chairpersons, village pradhans and corporators to work for the victory of the BJP's Council poll candidates.

With only seven more seats to grab, attaining a majority in the House will not be a difficult task for the party. However, it's aiming for a 'clean sweep' to consolidate its position further.

A BJP leader explained that in 2017, when the Yogi government first came to power in the state, the SP had 60-plus seats in the Council. "If the BJP gets a majority in both Houses, it will be easier for the party to get important bills and cement its position as an even more formidable political force."

AMU PROF SUSPENDED FOR REFERENCE TO HINDU DEITIES

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Lucknow

AN assistant professor of the Aligarh Muslim University (AMU) was suspended on Wednesday for allegedly hurting religious sentiments through objectionable references to Hindu deities during a lecture with medical students.

Dr Jitendra Kumar of Jawaharlal Nehru Medical College was suspended after he was prima facie found to have indulged in "misconduct" based on preliminary facts. "He was issued a show-cause notice and asked to submit a reply explaining his behaviour. Meanwhile, the university administration has suspended him," said Shafey Kidwai, incharge of AMU Public Relations.

"The AMU administration and faculty strongly condemned the content of a slide on the mythical reference of rape and issued a show cause notice to Dr Jitendra Kumar for hurting the religious sentiments of the students, staff and citizens. He has been asked to submit his reply in 24 hours," the university said in a statement on Wednesday. It has formed a two-member panel to probe the incident and to suggest steps so that such incidents were not repeated.

Kumar is said to have made the reference in a presentation with what was deemed to be 'objectionable references' to deities. A case was also registered against Kumar in connection with the "inflammatory content" of his presentation during Tuesday's class involving MBBS students of the forensic medicine department. The FIR was lodged against him under following a complaint by Dr Nishit Sharma, an ex-student of AMU, a senior police officer said.

According to Kidwai, the university received complaints from some students and the screenshots of the lecture presentation as they went viral on social media. He claimed the matter was dealt with utter seriousness.

Maha govt will complete full term: Pawar

IN another development, the CBI on Wednesday took custody of former Maharashtra home minister and NCP leader Anil Deshmukh from Arthur Road Jail in connection with corruption allegations raised against him by former Mumbai police commissioner Param Bir Singh. Deshmukh was in judicial custody following his arrest by the ED in connection with a money laundering case.

To a question on the possible impact of such raids on the coalition government in Maharashtra, Pawar said the Maha Vikas Aghadi government will complete its full term. "The MVA will also return to power in the elections in 2024," he said.

During the 20-minute meeting, Pawar and Modi discussed other issues related to Maharashtra. Pawar also flagged the delay on the part of Maharashtra Governor Bhagat Singh Koshiyari regarding nominations to the state Legislative Council.

Carve out a Vindhya Pradesh or will float new party, BJP MLA threatens

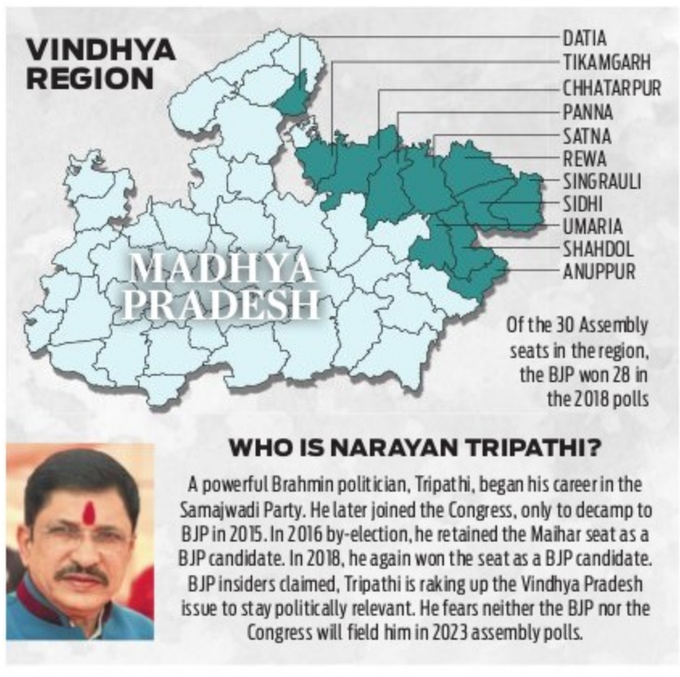
EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bhopal

A ruling BJP legislator in Madhya Pradesh, who has been running a campaign for restoring the erstwhile 'Vindhya Pradesh' as a separate state, has now given an ultimatum to the state government. Narayan Tripathi, MLA from Maihar constituency in Satna district, has threatened to launch a new party and contest all 30 seats in the Vindhya region in the next Assembly elections if the Shivraj Singh Chouhan government doesn't work towards carving out the new state by 2023.

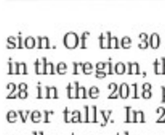
"It was on April 4, 1948 that Vindhya Pradesh was founded, but later became part of MP. If the foundation for restoring Vindhya Pradesh isn't laid by the government by 2023, we'll form a new party and contest all 30 seats of the region. We'll ensure the formation of a government in MP that will create the Vindhya Pradesh," Tripathi said at a public event on Monday evening to mark the foundation day of the erstwhile 'Vindhya Pradesh'.

On his appeal, residents of Maihar town lit up their houses with diyas to mark the occasion. Of the 30 Assembly seats in the region, the BJP had won 28 in the 2018 polls — its best ever tally. In 2019 Lok Sabha polls, too, the party had swept the region winning all five seats by big margins.

According to Satna-based political journalist Vishnukant Tripathi, "If at all Tripathi forms a new party, it will trouble both BJP and Congress. But it may hurt the saffron party more by eating into upper caste votes as the Maihar MLA is a powerful Brahmin politician."



Of the 30 Assembly seats in the region, the BJP won 28 in the 2018 polls



WHO IS NARAYAN TRIPATHI?

A powerful Brahmin politician, Tripathi, began his career in the Samajwadi Party. He later joined the Congress, only to decamp to BJP in 2015. In 2016 by-election, he retained the Maihar seat as a BJP candidate. In 2018, he again won the seat as a BJP candidate. BJP insiders claimed, Tripathi is raking up the Vindhya Pradesh issue to stay politically relevant. He fears neither the BJP nor the Congress will field him in 2023 assembly polls.

Gorakhnath attack: Cops probe conspiracy angle

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Lucknow

THE UP Anti-Terrorist Squad on Wednesday brought Murtaza Abbasi, the accused in the attack on security personnel at the gate of Gorakhnath temple, to Lucknow for interrogating him further. Sources said the ATS is grilling Abbasi to ascertain if he is part of a sleeper cell and if there is any conspiracy behind the incident.

The sources claimed the probe agencies have found "incriminating evidence" from Abbasi's laptop and mobile phone, indicating that he was self-radicalised and had been watching speeches of hardliners and ISIS sympathizers.

Confirming that the ATS has brought Abbasi to Lucknow, ADG (Law and Order) Prashant Kumar said that whatever was seized from him was being physically and technically examined by the probe agencies.

The sleuths are also sifting through the four bank accounts of Abbasi. The sources claimed he used these accounts to transfer funds abroad.

On Sunday evening, Abbasi, a chemical engineer from IIT-Bombay, had tried to enter the Gorakhnath temple in Gorakhpur by attacking police constables with a sharp-edged weapon. The Gorakhnath temple premises also house the residence of UP CM Yogi Adityanath who is the chief priest of the revered Mutt.

Abbasi's family claimed that he has been mentally unstable for some time and is a divorcee. Meanwhile, SP chief Akhilesh Yadav said the sleuths should take into account the mental state of the accused. "BJP believes in making a mountain out of a mole hill,' said Yadav.

Wild jumbos trample 5 tribals in MP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bhopal

FIVE tribals were trampled to death by a herd of wild elephants in the jungles of Shahdol district in Madhya Pradesh in two separate incidents in the last two days.

Driven by the intoxicating aroma of Mahua flowers, the herd of nine jumbos from Chhattisgarh is going on a rampage in the jungles of neighbouring MP.

All the victims—belonging to two families and including three women—were either collecting Mahua flowers or guarding the plucked flowers in the dense reserve forest of Jaisinghnagar Forest Range.

While the first incident, in which a 60-year-old man and his 55-year-old wife were trampled to death in Masiyari Chhitranv village, happened at around 4 am on Tuesday, the second incident happened 5km away in Bansa village, where a 50-year-old man, his 48-year-old wife and 38-year-old sister-in-law were killed by the same herd. The trio was killed at around 5 am on Wednesday and sleeping in a makeshift shelter to guard the Mahua flowers kept in the open for drying.

The incident happened despite the forest department staffers having alerted and cautioned the tribals not to venture into the forests in the wee hours. "Mahua flowers fuel the economy of tribals as they sell these flowers at prices ranging between ₹45-₹50 per kilo in the local market," Shahdol Zone ADGP DC Sagar told this newspaper.

Gota won't go despite growing protests

Defies calls for resignation; revokes state of emergency declared last week; protests continue across the country

COLOMBO

SRI LANKA'S president will not step down and instead will face the country's political and economic crisis, a key government minister said on Wednesday despite continuing large protests that are demanding his resignation.

Sri Lanka has endured months of shortages of fuel and other essentials, and the protests over the economic troubles have spread nationwide and expanded to criticism of President Gotabaya Rajapaksa and his politically powerful family.

Rajapaksa has resisted the calls for him to resign even after members of his own coalition made them this week, with governing party lawmakers saying an interim government should replace his and failing to do so would make them responsible for violence.

Rajapaksa "will not resign. We will face this. We have the strength to face this. We are not afraid," Minister of Highways Johnston Fernando told Parliament on Wednesday.

Hours earlier, Rajapaksa revoked the state of emergency that he had declared last week after crowds of protesters demonstrated near his home in the capital, Colombo. The widely criticised emergency declaration gave him sweeping authority to act to protect public security, including suspending any laws, authorizing detentions and seizing property.

TV and social media images from Monday showed protesters storming into the offices and houses of governing party lawmakers and vandalizing some premises. Lawmakers urged the Parliament speaker to ensure their safety, and Fernando said they were prepared.

"We are ready to face them if anyone comes to attack us," Fernando said in Parliament.

Protests continued on Wednesday in many parts of the country demanding that Rajapaksa step down.

In Colombo, hundreds of doctors staged a protest march urging the government to solve shortages of medicine at state-run hospitals, while opposition lawmakers demonstrated in Parliament demanding that Rajapaksa resign. The protest caused a 10-minute suspension of Parliament. Elsewhere in the country, students, lawyers and other groups protested against the government.

Rajapaksa earlier proposed a unity government be formed to handle the crisis, but the main opposition party rejected it. AP

Crisis risks starvation, says speaker

COLOMBO

SRI Lanka's crippling economic crisis risks causing starvation across the island nation of 22 million while acute shortages of essentials and debilitating blackouts will get worse, the speaker of parliament warned Wednesday. "We are told this is the worst crisis, but I think this is just the beginning," Abeywardana said at the start of a two-day debate on the worsening economic woes. "The food, gas and electricity shortages will get worse. There will be very acute food shortages and starvation."

A critical foreign currency shortage has left Sri Lanka struggling to import essential goods, with the pandemic torpedoing vital revenue from tourism and remittances.

Rating agencies have warned of a potential default on Sri Lanka's $51 billion foreign debt. Economists say the crisis has been exacerbated by government mismanagement, years of accumulated borrowing and ill-advised tax cuts. AFP

Pak SC again adjourns hearing on no-trust motion for one day

ISLAMABAD

PAKISTAN'S Supreme Court on Wednesday sought minutes of the National Security Council meeting from the government as it adjourned till Thursday the hearing of the crucial case about rejection of the no-confidence motion against Prime Minister Imran Khan through a controversial ruling by the deputy speaker of the National Assembly.

National Assembly Deputy Speaker Qasim Khan Suri on Sunday ruled that the no-confidence motion was linked with a "foreign conspiracy" to topple the government and hence was not maintainable. Minutes later, President Arif Alvi dissolved the National Assembly on advice of Prime Minister Khan.

The apex court within hours took suo motu notice of it and a five-member bench started hearing the case on Monday. The bench is headed by Chief Justice Umar Ata Bandial and includes Justice Ijazul Ahsan, Justice Mohammad Ali Mazhar, Justice Munib Akhtar and Justice Jamal Khan Mandokhail. During the third day of the hearing on Wednesday, Babar Awan appeared for Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) party and Ali Zafar represented President Alvi.

Chief Justice Bandial asked Awan about the minutes of the recent meeting of the National Security Council which had discussed a letter purportedly showing evidence of a foreign conspiracy to oust the PTI-led government.

During the hearing, Justice Bandial questioned the basis on which the speaker issued the ruling, Dawn newspaper reported. "Can the speaker announce such a ruling without presenting the facts," he asked, adding that this was the constitutional point on which the court had to make a decision.

He also asked Awan to inform the court whether the speaker could issue a ruling that was not on the day's agenda by bypassing Article 95. He told the PTI counsel to defend the ruling with "solid" evidence.

"Where are the minutes of the NSC meeting?" he asked Awan, also asking the PTI counsel about the basis on Suri exercised his authority.

After Awan, Zafar began his arguments, insisting that any direction from the court on the matter of the deputy speaker's ruling would exceed its jurisdiction. PTI

'Paytm to break even in 6 quarters'

CEO says Paytm to achieve operating EBITDA breakeven well ahead of analysts' estimates

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

PAYTM founder and CEO Vijay Shekhar Sharma believes that his fintech firm should achieve operating EBITDA breakeven in the next 6 quarters, well ahead of estimates by most analysts. Sharma, in a letter to investors, said that they are going to achieve this without compromising any growth plans. By operating EBITDA, the company means EBITDA before ESOP (employee stock ownership plan) cost.

Sharma, in a letter to investors, said that they are going to achieve this without compromising on any growth plans.

Sharma's address comes two weeks after share prices of Paytm had crashed to an all-time low of ₹521 as against its issue price of ₹2,150. The fall in Paytm share prices has been so steep that the Bombay Stock Exchange (BSE) last month had to seek a clarification from the company about it.

Sharma said, "Against the backdrop of volatile market conditions for high growth stocks globally, our shares are down significantly from the IPO price. Rest assured, the entire Paytm team is committed to build a large, profitable company and to create long-term shareholder value."

He added that his stock grants will be vested to him only when Paytm's market cap has crossed the IPO level on a sustained basis. This means to reach the issue price again, the stock will have to rally about 340%. PayTm's current m-cap at around ₹41,000 crore is nearly ₹1 lakh crore lower than its pre-listing m-cap. PayTm had debuted in the equity market in November last by launching India's largest IPO. Brokerage firm Macquarie which first predicted its target price correctly recently slashed the same to ₹450, down by 36% as compared to ₹700 it had predicted in February.

"Recent development significantly reduces the probability of getting a banking licence to lend and other regulatory headwinds include the digital payments paper potentially capping wallet charges and tougher buy now pay later and KYC regulation," it said citing RBI's decision to suspend Paytm Payments Bank from on-boarding new customers.

Merged HDFC Bank to narrow vital gap with SBI

RAM SAHGAL @ Mumbai

THE merger of HDFC with HDFC Bank could significantly narrow the gap in the loan book and certain key financial metrics of the combined entity versus the country's largest lender SBI once the scheme of amalgamation gets all the regulatory approvals in the next 12-18 months.

For instance, a comparison of the second quarter of FY22's loan book between SBI and the pro-forma merged entity shows the gap in advances narrowing to almost ₹9 lakh crore from ₹13.5 lakh crore if only HDFC Bank's loans are taken into account. Similarly, the merged entity's net interest income would be almost 70% of SBI's NII against just 56% that HDFC Bank alone would have accounted for, based on an institutional brokerage report by Systematix.

On the P&L front the pre-provisioning operating profit of the merged entity could potentially exceed that of the country's largest bank. The combined entity's PPoP stands at ₹20,900 crore against that of SBI's ₹18,079 crore. HDFC Bank's PPoP in the period under review was actually lower at ₹15,800 crore while the mortgage lender's PPoP was just ₹5,100 crore.

Once the merger gets all the regulatory approvals it will result in a financial behemoth with a loan book second only to SBI's. Based on the latest quarter (Q3FY22), the loan book of the pro-forma merged entity would be almost ₹18 lakh crore against SBI's ₹26.6 lakh crore. The mortgage lender will get access to the bigger distribution network of the bank with over 6300 branches and its low cost funds, while HDFC Bank can offer HDFC's mortgage product to 70% of its 6.8 crore customers who don't have a home loan from HDFC.

To be sure, meeting reserve requirements like CRR and SLR will be a challenge with Macquarie estimating that HDFC Bank will have an excess SLR and CRR asset requirement of ₹70000-80000 crore, besides an incremental ₹90000 crore agriculture portfolio, based on 18% of borrowings, to meet RBI's priority sector lending norms.

"While nothing can be said of branches yet as the entities will operate independently until the effective date, the merger creates potential benefits and challenges for the merged HDFC Bank," said Sunil Pachisia, director, institutional sales, Pratibhuti Vinihit Ltd.

Based on Q2 FY22 earnings

	Pro-forma merged entity	SBI	HDFC Bank
Loan book	16.84 lakh	25.5 lakh	12 lakh
NII	21,800	31,183	17,700
PBT	16,600	10,741	11,900
PPoP	20,900	18,079	15,800
PAT	12,600	7,826	8,800

AMAZON- FUTURE RETAIL ROW

SC disposes off case, Arbitration proceedings to begin at SIAC

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Wednesday allowed arbitration proceedings before Singapore International Arbitration Centre (SIAC) between e-commerce giant Amazon and Future Retail Limited.The top court then went on to dispose off the case before it.

"Parties will approach the tribunal to resume arbitral proceedings & the tribunal will consider the termination application by FRLas under Section 32(2) (c) of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996 on priority & pass orders." The bench said. Chief Justice NV Ramana also remarked in a light vein that he hopes to not hear them on this case again.

The top court also transferred the application by Amazon relating to restraining FRL from alienating its assets to the Delhi High court.

"These interim applications...parties agree that proceedings are underway before the single judge and thus these applications are also sent to the single judge bench of the High court." CJI NV Ramana said.

The Supreme Court on Monday had noted that Future Retail Limited and Amazon LLC Holding have agreed to the arbitration proceedings at Singapore International Arbitration Centre (SIAC).

Amazon had contended that the assets of FRL should remain with it till the matter is not concluded at the tribunal.

"There is a sudden handover of assets which should not be done. The assets have to remain in FRL. We pray for restraint from any alienation of assets and should remain with FRL should not be magically switched to any party." Senior advocate Gopal Subramanium appearing for Amazon had argued before the top court.

While Future Retail's counsel senior advocate Harish Salve had countered the same that they had not transferred its stores on its own accord but was done on the insistence of the landlords who hadn't received their rent.

Amazon and Future group are engaged in litigation at multiple legal portals on the issue of FRL's merger deal to the tune of ₹24,713 crore with Reliance Retail Limited (RIL). The SIAC in 2020 restrained Future from selling its assets to RIL.

Maruti Suzuki to go for a price hike this month

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

INDIA'S largest carmaker Maruti Suzuki India (MSI) will increase prices of its entire model range this month amid rise in input costs. Without disclosing the quantum of hike, the newer prices will vary for different models.

In a regulatory filing, the carmaker said that over the past year, the cost of the company's vehicles continued to be adversely impacted due to the increase in various input costs. "Therefore, it has become imperative for the company to pass on some impact of the above additional costs to customers through a price hike," it added. To note, Maruti Suzuki has already hiked vehicle prices by around 8.8% from January 2021 to March 2022 owing to constant increase in input costs. According to market experts, this increased ownership cost has had an impact of entry-level cars where consumers are price sensitive.

Maruti Suzuki sells a range of models starting from Alto to S-Cross in the domestic market, priced between ₹3.25 lakh and ₹12.77 lakh (ex-showroom Delhi). Not only Maruti, other automakers are also struggling keep up with the rise in cost of commodities like steel and aluminium and precious metals like palladium. To reduce the impact, they have been passing geh same to end consumers.

Toyota Kirloskar Motor, BMW India, Audi, Mercedes-Benz have also hiked prices.

CRUDE OIL PRICES MAY LEAD TO HIGHER INFLATION: GOVT

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

SUSTAINED rise in crude oil prices will have an adverse impact on the overall growth of the economy, a top government official said Wednesday amid continuing higher oil prices and inflation.

He further said that the prolonged elevated prices above $110 per barrel will trigger further inflation forcing the Central Bank to increase interest rates.

"If crude oil prices remain between $110-120 per barrel for at least a month then it will lead to higher inflation which in turn would hamper the overall growth of the economy," the official told The New Indian Express.

As India is highly dependent on coal imports for its energy needs, the soaring crude oil prices will cause power companies to increase the tariffs, he added.

The price of coal has increased 196% year-on-year globally.

"Energy cost will increase the prices of most of the items. In case of fixed tariffs, power generation companies won't be able to recover their costs and may incur huge losses, which in turn would lead to a bad loan scenario for Public Sector Banks. Besides this, cement, steel and paper industries may also run into deep losses as they have dedicated plants which run on coal," the official said.

It is also to be noted that the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) is already under immense pressure to increase the interest rates to contain inflation.

According to the official, an increase in interest will negatively affect the growth rate of the country thereby causing job losses. Also inflation will discourage foreign investors to invest in India and will depreciate the rupee.

"Current account deficit and fiscal deficit would also widen due to higher inflation. Government's cost of borrowing will also rise which will have a cascading effect on the interest rates," he further added.

On Wednesday, Brent crude closed at $104.60 per barrel, 1.91% lower than the previous close.

BSNL to install 1.12 lakh towers across India to roll out 4G services

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

STATE-owned telecom operator Bharat Sanchar Nigam Limited (BSNL) is planning to install 1.12 lakh mobile towers across India to roll out 4G services, informed the telecom minister Ashwini Vaishnaw on Wednesday in Lok Sabha. The minister also said this 4G telecom network, which is to be launched this year, will be fully indigenous.

"I am happy to inform you that the 4G telecom network is ready for roll out soon and it is developed in India by Indian engineers and scientists. Our development of 4G network is being appreciated worldwide and it has a core network, radio network with full telecom equipment," said Vaishnaw.

The loss-making telco is in the process of ordering 6,000 towers immediately and then 6,000 more and finally 1 lakh to be installed all over the country for the 4G network.

While all the other telecom operators are in the process of switching from 4G to 5G services, BSNL is still struggling to convert its network from 2G to 4G. The state-owned telco's bid to launch commercial next generation services hit multiple roadblocks since 2015.

However, this year the government is confident that BSNL's 4G networks will go live by 15 August 2022. P K Purwar, Chairman and Managing Director (CMD) of BSNL once mentioned that Prime Minister Narendra Modi wants the state-run telecom operator to deploy 4G services by August 15. In the 2022-23 budget, the government allocated ₹44,270-crore into BSNL for expenses primarily technology upgradation.

The minister of state for Communication Devyusingh Chouhan, in a written reply to parliament in December 2021, said that BSNL had given September 2022 as the deadline for Pan-India rollout of its 4G services.

I am happy to inform you that the 4G telecom network is ready for roll out soon and it is developed in India by Indian engineers and scientists. — Ashwini Vaishnaw, Telecom minister

CUMMINS STEALS SKY'S THUNDER

Aussie's joint-fastest 50 in IPL keeps MI winless

GOMESH S @Chennai

PAT Cummins' record in death overs is no secret. In 26 innings, he has operated at 10.23 RPO in death overs in the IPL. But, on Wednesday, against Mumbai Indians, it was different. Going into the final four overs, Cummins had bowled three, conceding 26 runs up until then. On a pitch that had bounce, the Australian, along with Umesh Yadav and Rasikh Salam had bowled extremely well in the first half of the innings.

Suryakumar Yadav and Tilak Varma had accelerated and Mumbai was pushing towards the 150-run mark when Cummins came on to bowl the final over. First ball, full and wide, Suryakumar edges one behind. In comes Pollard. Cummins delivers a wide yorker, dug out for two. Another wide yorker follows, but this time Pollard was ready for it. He gets under it and smacks it over long-on. Eight off three.

Cummins tries to go wider and bowls a wide, forcing him to change the length for the next. A couple of runs followed off the fourth. 11 off four deliveries against Pollard isn't all that bad. The pacer went short and wide, Pollard pulled with all his might only to top-edge it for a six. 17 off five now. Cummis reacts and goes fuller. Pollard goes hard and this time the leading edge brings same result.

In an over where he did hardly anything wrong, Cummins concedes 23 runs from five balls and a wicket. From 138/3, Mumbai finishes with 161/4. But he knew, such things happen in the shortest format. "Welcome to T20 cricket," he would say after the match, before adding, "we would have taken 160 at the start of the innings." In fact, at that point he wouldn't have known that his more significant role in the match was yet to come.

Mumbai had reduced Kolkata to 101/5 in 13.1 overs. Tymal Mills had removed Andre Russell. Venkatesh Iyer was still batting, but they still needed 61 from 41 balls. In came Cummins and sneaked a single of his first. That was the only inconsequential ball of the innings. From there one, every ball he faced was an event. Fifth ball of that over was on the slot and Cummins smacked it on the leg side for six. Mills went fuller and wider. Cummins followed, slicing it between gully and third-man for a four.

Mumbai still had two overs of Jasprit Bumrah. But that didn't bother Cummins. He played a couple of deliveries before launching him over deep-midwicket. Much like Mills, Bumrah, too, went full and wide, but an edge was enough for Cummins to secure a boundary. By the end of that over, the equation had come down to 35 off 30 with Cummins at 22 from 8 balls. What followed was just madness. Rohit Sharma brought Daniel Sams and Cummins was ready for it. Six, four, six, six followed off his bat, all on through the leg-side. The chase was all but done in those four deliveries. Two off a no-ball, four and a six followed as Cummins brought up the joint-fastest fifty ever in the IPL, smashing 35 runs in that over. It was an exhibition of ball striking. From 101/5 after 13.1, Kolkata went to 162/5 in just 18 balls.

Brief scores: MI 161/4 in 20 ovs (Suryakumar 52, Tilak 38 n.o; Cummins 2/49) vs KKR 162/5 in 15 ovs (Cummins 56 n.o, Venkatesh 50 n.o).

Speed key for India women against Korea

FIROZ MIRZA @Chennai

THE Indian team has been quite impressive so far at the ongoing FIH Hockey Women's Junior World Cup in Potchefstroom, South Africa. They topped Pool D winning all three round-robin matches including one against former champions Germany to storm into the quarterfinals, where they meet formidable Korea on Friday.

The Salima Tete-led side have sounded the board 11 times and conceded only twice so far. Playing with speed has been their strength but two-time champions Korea are known to slow down their opponents with a solid defensive structure.

Aware of the possible ploy their opponents may implement against them, captain Salima says the team will focus on its strength. "We will not play the game at their speed. We have to make them play at our speed, which has been our strength," said Salima during a pre-match media interaction on Wednesday. Vice-captain Ishika Chaudhary also agreed with her and added, "Yes, speed has been our advantage and Korea is a team who can slow their opponent down. This is something we will be conscious about and we try to work our way around it and focus on creating space."

India captain Salima Tete

The women have featured in four editions of the global event so far and their best finish came in 2013 when they claimed a bronze medal. They didn't qualify for the previous edition held in 2016. The team comprises three Olympians — Salima and strikers Lalremsiami and Sharmila Devi. Their presence has helped the team to a great extent. Besides, goalkeeper Bichu Devi Kharibam also made her senior debut recently. "Many of us have been playing together for over three years now, there's good team bonding and we understand each other's strengths and weaknesses," said Ishika.

CITY'S PERSISTENCE PAYS OFF

Pep Guardiola's side spent much of the night banging their heads against the red and white wall of Atletico's massed defence at the Etihad Stadium. But Guardiola sent on Phil Foden midway through the second half and his sublime pass teed up Kevin De Bruyne to finally reward City for their territorial dominance. City ended with 15 total attempts, though only two were on target, including De Bruyne's 70th-minute goal. Atletico had zero attempts.

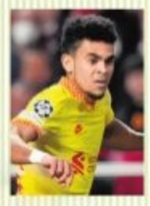
CHAMPIONS LEAGUE

Zero

This was the first time Atletico failed to register even a single attempt on goal in all competitions under Diego Simeone.

LIVERPOOL SHOW MIGHT

Liverpool were in firm control of the first-half in Lisbon and took a 2-0 lead thanks to goals from Ibrahima Konate and Sadio Mane. They could have score more as Mo Salah missed couple of chances. Early in the second-half, Benfica pulled one goal back through Darwin Nunez after a Konate error. The goal had lifted the home side and the game was interestingly poised at that stage. However, Luis Diaz, who was lively all night, put the tie to bed and put Liverpool in firm control of the quarterfinal.



RESULTS: AT LISBON: BENFICA 1-3 LIVERPOOL; AT MANCHESTER: MAN CITY 1-0 ATLETICO.

China sees steep rise in Covid cases

Shanghai accounts for at least 80% of 20,472 infections reported on Wednesday

COVID

SHANGHAI: China reported more than 20,000 Covid-19 cases on Wednesday, the highest daily tally given since the start of the pandemic as millions in lockdown Shanghai began a new round of testing.

The country's "zero-Covid" strategy has come under immense strain as cases spike, with around 25 million residents of Shanghai—China's largest city and economic engine room—ordered to stay at home as the authorities struggle to contain the outbreak.

Until March, China had kept daily cases low with snap localised lockdowns, mass testing, and strict restrictions on international travel. But the caseload has hit thousands per day in recent weeks, with Shanghai driving the surge of the highly transmissible Omicron variant. The city locked down in phases last week and complaints have swelled online of fresh food shortages caused by logistics disruptions and panic buying, which has left many residents waking early to try to beat the queues on grocery apps. State broadcaster CCTV reported that the city will launch a fresh round of tests on the entire population on Wednesday. Shanghai's "prevention and control situation is very severe," National Health Commission official Lei Zhenglong said Wednesday, adding the outbreak is still "in its peak phase."

It was the latest dour warning suggesting a long run in lockdown may be ahead, while city health officials have converted a convention centre into a makeshift Covid hospital for 40,000 people. China recorded 20,472 infections on Wednesday, according to the National Health Commission. It is the country's highest daily infection number given by authorities, even during the peak of the initial outbreak which centred around Wuhan. Shanghai, China's largest city, accounted for more than 80 percent of the national tally, city officials said Wednesday. The majority of the cases are, however, asymptomatic. Authorities reported no new deaths, in a country which says only two people have died of the virus in nearly two years.

Shanghai builds makeshift hospital

Shanghai is converting its landmark National Exhibition and Convention Center into a makeshift Covid hospital for 40,000 people, state news agency Xinhua reported Wednesday

Yet China faces low vaccination rates, especially among the elderly, leaving officials with a high-wire balancing act of maintaining public health while keeping the economy moving. Omicron can only be thwarted by vaccination "protecting high-risk populations like the elderly and those with underlying conditions," Wang Guiqing, an infectious disease expert of Peking University said in a Wednesday press conference.

In Shanghai quarantine facilities are bulging with people who test positive—even if they are asymptomatic—as city officials stick rigidly to virus protocols. Those include separating Covid-positive babies and children from parents who test negative, a policy that has anguished worried families.

City officials said on Wednesday that parents of some child patients with "special needs" would now be allowed to remain with their Covid-positive children. Anger over lack of fresh food and curtailed movements is rising among residents as officials extend what was originally intended to be a short lockdown.

US LAUNCHES PROBE INTO ELECTRIC CAR BATTERIES

E-VEHICLES

DETROIT: US safety regulators have opened an investigation into electric and hybrid vehicle batteries after five automakers issued recalls due to possible defects that could cause fires or stalling.

The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration says the probe covers more than 1,38,000 vehicles with batteries made by LG Energy Solution of South Korea.

General Motors, Mercedes-Benz, Hyundai, Stellantis and Volkswagen have issued recalls since February of 2020, most due to internal battery failures that can increase the risk of fires.

The agency says it will write to LG and other companies that might have bought similar batteries to make sure recalls are being done when needed. Messages were left Tuesday seeking comment from LG Energy Solution.

The investigation is another bug in a growing global rollout of electric vehicles by all automakers to replace internal combustion vehicles to cut emissions and fight climate change. Ford and BMW also have recalled batteries in recent years. Also, the US National Transportation Safety Board investigated a series of fires in Tesla vehicles and said the high-voltage lithium-ion batteries pose safety risks to first responders after crashes. Many governments are counting on counting EVs to replace gasoline-burning vehicles that emit greenhouse gases that cause global warming.

Data on electric vehicle fires is limited, but a small sample in April of 2021 by the insurance industry's Highway Loss Data Institute found that EVs and their conventional gas counterparts had about the same number of non-crash fire claims per 1,000 insured vehicle years. The institute tracked claims for 10 EVs and their gas equivalents and found that EVs had 0.19 fire claims per 1,000 insured vehicle years compared with 0.2 for gasoline counterparts.

Mickey to start hugging again

COVID: For nearly two years, costumed characters at U.S. Disney parks have kept their distance from visitors because of the pandemic. They haven't been able to give hugs, sign autographs or interact up close with fans. That is about to change in a few weeks when the parks reintroduce traditional character greetings. As soon as mid-April, personal interaction between visitors and costumed characters will be allowed again at Disneyland.

HOPELESS AND HELPLESS

With the raging economic turmoil in the island nation, Sri Lankans in B'luru share the plight of their families back home

SANATH PRASAD

BRIDGED Suren, a Sri Lankan national doing business in Bengaluru, recalls his home where 'manikam' (in Tamil) or precious stones were found in abundance. But now, he feels helpless as he watches life as he knew it thrown out of gear. Thirteen-hour power cuts, prices of essential commodities skyrocketing, fuel crisis augmenting...the instability in Sri Lanka (SL) has turned life upside-down.

A place that was a travellers' paradise until a few months ago, now looks like a breeding ground of protests and economic catastrophe. Lankans working in Bengaluru are watching helplessly as their country plunges into darkness.

Suren's family in Colombo, runs a fabric, rubber and tea business. With the ban on chemical fertilisers, rice, maida, and tea are in acute shortage. "My uncle who manages the tea estate is finding it hard to pay the salary of labourers. Their phones are switched off because mobiles are out of charge due to long power cuts. Although they are from a well-off business family, they are sticking to one meal a day, because ration shops are running out of essentials. I cannot financially assist them from here, because the currency exchange system has collapsed completely. It's really sad to see my country undergo this struggle," says the 44-year-old.

While Suren is in despair looking at the economic repercussions, Isuru Waduge, a UK national born in Kalutara – who is based in Bengaluru and works as a leadership manager for an MNC – feels sorry that the country will have to celebrate the Sinhalese New Year (April 14) in darkness. "The Sinhalese and the Tamil New Year is very auspicious for us. This time we will have a festival covered in darkness. We are blessed that my family members who are in Bentota and Colombo are not in a situation where they have to forego a meal. However, they are shelling out more money to buy essentials than before. With long power cuts, my brother tells me that he wakes up in darkness and goes to sleep in darkness," says Waduge.

Similarly, Mohamed Reza's cousin, who runs a blockchain startup in Colombo, is planning to shift base to Singapore owing to the current situation. "My cousin is unable to run his startup due to the 10-13 hour power cuts. My family is frustrated at how life is panning out in SL with each passing day," says Reza, a marketing professional in a city-based tech startup.

Perera, who runs an event management company here, says, "Even well-off people in SL are facing the same plight as the poor. My son and his wife who are staying in Colombo are living a strange life, with a shortage of sugar, milk powder, and other daily requirements."

HOW DID SRI LANKA GET HERE?

President Gotabaya Rajapaksa carried out populist tax cuts in 2019, reducing revenues months before the pandemic devastated the economy. This led to a downfall in the foreign-exchange reserve, making it difficult for SL to pay external debts. Rajapaksa also imposed a ban on chemical fertilizers, thus reducing the yield of many essential crops which skyrocketed the prices of many essential consumables like rice, sugar, tea among others. Things got out of hand when the government saw mass resignations of ministers leading to political instability. Many Lankans even took to streets, protesting against long power cuts due to the energy crisis and demanding the ouster of the Rajapaksa government.

ON THE BACKBURNER

Vinutha Kiran, who runs travel agency Travel Lounge finds that SL is losing out on tourism heavily due to the turmoil. "We have seen 80% of travellers cancelling their trips, while the rest have postponed it. I had created two groups for a trip this month, but received a poor response. Many backed out after looking at the developments," says Kiran.

The situation has left me devastated. After the tsunami, civil war and Easter bombings, I feel the situation this time has really united us. The country has helped me achieve my dreams as a cricketer. So today, I join my people in solidarity to show my support towards my motherland and fight against the power-hungry leaders of the country

Roshan Mahanama, ex-Sri Lankan cricketer who visits B'luru

CERVICAL CERCLAGE to prevent abortions

When a woman's cervix is incompetent, she is more likely to have a baby born prematurely because cervix shortens or opens too early. In order to prevent premature labor, a woman's doctor may recommend a cervical cerclage.

A cerclage is used to prevent these early changes in a woman's cervix, thus preventing premature labor. A closed cervix helps a developing baby stay inside the uterus until the mother reaches 37-38 weeks of pregnancy.

1.What is Cervical Cerclage?

Treatment for cervical incompetence in a surgical procedure called cervical circlage, in which the cervix is sewn around and closed during pregnancy. The cervix is the lowest part of the uterus and extends into the vagina.

2. Why is Cervical Cerclage used?

A cervical circlage procedure may be used if a woman's cervix is at risk of opening under the pressure of the growing pregnancy.

A incompetent cervix may be the result of :

- History of second trimester miscarriages.
- A previous 'cone biopsy' or a 'LEEP' procedure.
- Damaged cervix by abortion.
- By Birth also cervix may be weak.

3. When is a Cervical Cerclage used?

The best time for the cervical circlage procedure is in the third month (12-14 weeks) of pregnancy. However, some women may need a cerclage placed later in pregnancy. This is known as an emergent cerclage and is necessary after the changes such as opening or shortening of the cervix have already began.

If an emergent cerclage is required, future pregnancies will probably also require a cervical cerclage.

4. What are Alternatives to the Cervical Cerclage Procedure?

If changes in the cervix are found very late in pregnancy or if the cervix has already opened up significantly, bed rest may be the best alternative.

5. What are the benefits of a Cerclage?

Cervical cerclage helps to prevent miscarriage or premature labor caused by cervical incompetence. The procedure is successful in 85% to 90% of cases. Cervical cerclage appears to be effective when true cervical incompetence exists, but unfortunately the diagnosis of Cervical incompetence is very difficult and can be inaccurate.

6. Why doesn't every woman who has had a Preterm Baby need a Cerclage?

Only woman with an abnormal or 'incompetent' cervix can be helped by a cerclage. However, even with the help of a cerclage, other problems can cause labor to begin too early. Women who have a cerclage placed will need to be checked routinely for other complications such as infection and preterm labor.

7. What should I expect before my Cervical Cerclage is placed?

Your medical history will be reviewed. A thorough exam of your cervix including a transvaginal ultrasound performed by a doctor who specialised in high-risk pregnancies. Your doctor will discuss pain control options for the procedure. Write down any questions or concerns you may want to discuss with your healthcare provider.

8. What happens during the Cervical Cerclage Procedure?

Most women have general, spinal or epidural anesthesia for pain control during the procedure. A doctor will stitch a band of strong thread around the cervix and the thread will be tightened to hold the cervix firmly closed.

9. What can I expect after the procedure?

You may stay in the hospital for a few hours or overnight to be monitored for premature contractions or labor. Immediately after the procedure, you may experience light bleeding and mild cramping, which should stop after a few days. This may be followed by an Increased thick vaginal discharge, which may continue for the remainder of the pregnancy.

You may receive medication to prevent infection or preterm labour.

For 2-3 days after the procedure, plan to relax at home, avoid any unnecessary physical activity.

Your doctor will discuss with you when would be the appropriate time to resume regular activities.

Abstinence from sexual intercourse is often recommended for one week before and at least one week after the procedure.

Dr. B. Ramesh
Medical Director, Gynaecology & Laparoscopic Surgery

10. How long is the Cerclage stitch left in?

Generally, the thread is removed at the 37th week of pregnancy, but it can be removed before if a woman's water breaks or contractions start. Most stitches are removed in the doctor's office without any problems.

11. What are the Risks of having a Cerclage placed?

The likelihood of Risks occurring is very minimal and most health professionals feel a cerclage is a life-saving procedure that outweighs the possible risks involved.

Possible risks could include :

- Premature contractions,
- Cervical dystocia (inability of the cervix to dilate normally in the course of labor).
- Rupture of membranes.
- Cervical infection.
- Cervical laceration if labor happens before the cerclage is removed.
- Some risks associated with general anesthesia include vomiting and nausea.

12. Are these signs I should look for after the Cerclage is palced that indicate a Problem?

It is important to contact your doctor if you experience any of the following symptoms after your cerclage is placed:-

- Contractions or cramping.
- Lower abdominal or back pain that comes and goes like labor pain.
- Vaginal bleeding.
- A fever over 100F or 37.8C or chills.
- Nausea and vomiting.
- Foul-smelling vaginal discharge.
- Your water breaking or leaking.

Hamsalekha launching my audio label is a dream fulfilled : Vasishta Simha

A SHARADHAA

ACTOR Vasishta Simha is equally popular as a singer too. The actor has often mentioned that it is his affinity for singing that brought him to Bengaluru, but destiny brought him in front of the camera.

Vasishta, who has rendered his voice for a few tracks, is finally starting an audio label, Simhaa Audio, which was launched by his favourite music director Hamsalekha. Dhananjay released the first song Neene Beku from the film, Kaalachakra, which stars Vasishta in the lead. Composed by Gurukiran, the song is sung by Sanjith Hegde.

Speaking to CE, Vasishta said that his audio label was a childhood dream that was finally fulfilled by Hamsalekha "I'm a big fan of Hamsalekha, and have listened to his music since my childhood. The logo was created by me during my growing up days thinking it might help me to meet the music composer. I even watched the film Shrungara Kavya only because there was a photo of Hamsalekha on it. I'm glad that my favourite composer launched the label, and my friend Dhananjay released the song," says Vasishta.

The actor-singer's purpose in launching this music platform is to provide an opportunity to new composers and lyricists. "We will have films and more independent music albums. We have a few albums ready to be launched, and we are also in discussion for a handful of Kannada films," says Vasishta.

His upcoming film, Kalachakra, is ready, and in will hit theatres by mid-May.

'Our Planet, Our Health'

WORLD HEALTH DAY

Time to Focus on Actions Needed to Keep Humans and the Planet Healthy: WHO

World Health Day is celebrated annually and each year draws attention to a specific health topic of concern to people all over the world.

The date of 7 April marks the anniversary of the founding of World Health Organisation. (WHO) in 1948.

In the midst of a pandemic, a polluted planet, increasing diseases like cancer, asthma, heart disease, on World Health Day 2022, the focus is on urgent actions needed to keep humans and the planet healthy and foster a movement to create societies focused on well-being.

WHO estimates that more than 13 million deaths around the world each year are due to avoidable environmental causes. This includes the climate crisis which is the single biggest health threat facing humanity. The climate crisis is also a health crisis.

Our political, social and commercial decisions are driving the climate and health crisis. Over 90% of people breathe unhealthy air resulting from burning of fossil fuels. A heating world is seeing mosquitos spread diseases farther and faster than ever before. Extreme weather events, land degradation and water scarcity are displacing people and affecting their health. Pollution and plastics are found at the bottom of our deepest oceans, the highest mountains, and have made their way into our food chain. Systems that produce highly processed, unhealthy foods and beverages are driving a wave of obesity, increasing cancer and heart disease while generating a third of global greenhouse gas emissions.

Air pollution is hard to escape, no matter how rich an area you live in. It is all around us. Microscopic pollutants in the air can slip past our body's defences, penetrating deep into our respiratory and circulatory system, damaging our lungs, heart and brain.

Air pollution is closely linked to climate change - the main driver of climate change is fossil fuel combustion which is also a major contributor to air pollution - and efforts to mitigate one can improve the other. This month, the UN Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change warned that coal-fired electricity must end by 2050 if we are to limit global warming rises to 1.5C. If not, we may see a major climate crisis in just 20 years.

The lack of visible smog is no indication that the air is healthy.

While the COVID-19 pandemic showed us the healing power of science, it also highlighted the inequities in our world.

The pandemic has revealed weaknesses in all areas of society and underlined the urgency of creating sustainable well-being societies committed to achieving equitable health now and for future generations without breaching ecological limits.

The present design of the economy leads to inequitable distribution of income, wealth and power, with too many people still living in poverty and instability.

A well-being economy has human well-being, equity and ecological sustainability as its goals.

These goals are translated into long-term investments, well-being budgets, social protection and legal and fiscal strategies.

Breaking these cycles of destruction for the planet and human health requires legislative action, corporate reform and individuals to be supported and incentivised to make healthy choices.

AVOIDING POLLUTION

Avoid exercising outdoors when pollution levels are high. When the air is bad, walk indoors or use an exercise machine.

Use less energy. you can help improve air quality, curb greenhouse gas emissions, encourage energy independence.

Walk or cycle or use EVs. Use buses or metro whenever possible rather than to driving your car.

Don't burn wood or trash. Burning them are among the major sources of particle pollution.
